WASHINGTON, Friday, March 5.

The great interest of the day has centered in the announcement of the Cabinet. The great anxiety and curiosity which has centered on this subject was brought to a fever heat early in the day by rumors which bore the air of probability, and at a later hour by semi-officials, hints at a portion of the list, for it had evidently been confided to more than one person. Inquiries at the Executive Mansion resulted in the information that the Cabinet would be sent in at noon if the Senate was in session.

An immense crowd repaired to the Capitol with the expectation of hearing the names announced in open session, but they were disappointed. Gen. RAWLINGS appeared on the floor of the Senate shortly after 12 o'clock, but few suspected that his portfolio contained the names, the knowledge of which so many coveted. By 2 o'clock the formality of apprising the President that Congress was in session and ready to hear from him, was accomplished, and Gen. RAWLINGS presented three messages in writing, which contained the following nominations:

For Secretary of State, ELIHU B. WASHBURNE, of Illinois.

For Secretary of the Treasury, ALEXANDER T. STEWART, of New-York.

For Secretary of the Navy, ADOLPH E. BORIE, of Pennsylvania.

For Secretary of the Interior, JACOB D. COX, of Ohio.

For Postmaster-General, JOHN A. J. CRESSWELL, of Maryland.

For Attorney-General, E. ROCKWOOD HOAR, of Massachusetts.

The second envelope contained the following:

For Commissioner of Internal Revenue, COLUMBUS DELANO, of Ohio.

The third envelope covered the following:

To fill the vacancy of Gen. WILLIAM T. SHERMAN.

To fill the vacancy of Lieut.-Gen. PHILIP H. SHERIDAN.

To fill the vacancy of Major-Gen. JOHN M. SCHOFIELD.

To fill the vacancy of Brigadier General, C. C. AUGUR.

The Senate went into Executive Session immediately, and in an instant the news was flashed over the country.

The announcement caused universal surprise, everybody was prepared to be surprised, but the reality was greater than the expectation.

It is difficult to describe the effect, and it is a painful duty to say that great disappointment and profound regret prevails in consequence of these selections, and this, too, not in the minds of politicians, nor in the minds of those not chosen, but among the warmest admirers and stoutest supporters of the President. The eminently respectable character of the men is everywhere conceded, but their fitness for their peculiar positions is the subject of criticism on every hand.

The selection of Ex-Senator CRESSWELL, of Maryland, for Postmaster-General probably gives more general satisfaction than any other name on the list. He is the best representative loyal Southern man that could be found, and will make an excellent administrative officer. Judge HOAR, of Massachusetts, as Attorney-General, is also satisfactorily received in all respects, save that the people of Massachusetts expected and hoped for another man and another position. Mr. WASHBURNE, there is good reason for believing, will remain in the Department of State for but a short time. His appointment is said to have surprised him as much as it did anybody. Mr. STEWART was in the room of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate when the announcement was made, and seemed much affected by the intelligence, although he had been apprized of the fact early in the day. He waited on the President this afternoon, and accepted the office with the promise that he would use his best abilities and energies to promote the interests of the Government. To-night he met at dinner with Senator FENTON, Postmaster-General CRESWELL, HORACE GREELEY, and Gen. BUTTERFIELD. He will reside at the Ebbitt House at present, his family remaining in New-York.

There is a very positive report in circulation to-night that Mr. BORIE has telegraphed a declination of the nomination. Mr. CRESSWELL and Gen. COX will accept without doubt.

The Senate promptly confirmed all the nominations without a reference, and then adjourned.

On the reception of the news in the House, the confusion became so great that a recess of ten minutes was ordered, and the subject was eagerly and excitedly discussed among all classes of members.

The feeling in Washington is not, perhaps, a reflex of the feeling elsewhere, but the feeling here among all classes and shades of Republicans is one of severe disappointment. To say anything else is to misrepresent the actual fact. There is, however, an entire and cheerful willingness to wait and see the wisdom of the selections demonstrated.

The Capitol to-day was the grand focus of attraction of the crowds of politicians, sight seers and strangers who still throng Washington. The inauguration, with all its accompanying ceremonies, was among the pageants of the past. President GRANT's policy was given in outline to the world, and the only event to which all looked forward with undisguised expectancy was the announcement of the Cabinet. Never was secret better kept than this one of the names of the men who were to be called by President GRANT to aid him in the administration of the Government.

PROCEEDINGS IN CONGRESS.

Both Houses of Congress met promptly at 12 o'clock, but long before that time every public portion of the Capitol was full of people. The galleries of the Senate and House were densely packed. The corridors were absolutely impassable, the vast Rotunda could hold no more, the Library was invaded by hundreds, the Supreme Court-room sofas and lounges were all occupied. The throng surged into the old Hall of Representatives and down into the lower floors of the building, out on the steps and porticos, peering into Committee-rooms, filling window niches and restaurants. No place possible to be visited escaped. "People, people everywhere gazing," prying, curious people, each man and woman acting with a full consciousness that he owned some infinitesimal portion of the splendid edifice. Thousands of people who had flocked here from all quarters of the compass to see the inauguration had gone home by early trains, but still the throng knew no diminution, and the cry everywhere was, "What crowds!" The crush and rush at the ball were told in these dispatches yesterday. Owing to some hitch in the arrangements at the cloak-room thousands were obliged to go home without shawls, hats or overcoats, or accept the alternative of remaining in the Treasury building all night. Thousands did so go home, leaving portions of their apparel behind them. The scene at the west wing of the Treasury building was an exciting one this morning; hundreds of people were there searching for their lost goods. Many were successful, and many were not. This was one of the principal causes of detention of our visitors. Then again there was a general impression that the names of the future Cabinet officers would be announced, and it was believed by the majority of strangers, and by those, too, who ought to be better informed, that such public formality as that of yesterday would take place in reference to those who were to be the future advisers and Ministers of the President. It was firmly believed by thousands that the names of the chosen few would be read in open session of the Senate, and this accounts for the masses at the Capitol, particularly at the Senate side of the building.

At an early hour every seat in the galleries was occupied. But a few hours and the suspense would be over. Twelve o'clock came and there was not a vacant inch of room within the walls of the Chamber to which the public were allowed admittance. There were a few vacant seats in the diplomatic galleries and that was all. Dozens of people who had never been inside a newspaper office were in the correspondents' gallery, for it was almost an impossibility to keep them out. Vice-President COLFAX, too, monopolized a share of public attention, and the Senators of the Republic, some of whom have a world-wide reputation, were objects of curiosity.

The Legislative proceedings were merely routine. Some important bills and resolutions were introduced and Senator BROWNLOW, of Tennessee, sworn in. The old man sat in his seat, being too weak and infirm to come to the desk of the presiding officer, where the oath is usually administered. He suffers keenly from the palsy, but his intellect and brain are as clear and vigorous as ever. While the Vice-President read the oath to him to-day, his arm fell helplessly in his lap, and one of the officers of the Senate was obliged to hold his wrist and hand in the elevated position required by law.

About 12:30 o'clock Senator CAMERON moved that a joint committee of two Senators and two Representatives be appointed to inform the President that Congress was in session, ready to receive any communication he may have to make. This was promptly agreed to, and Mr. CAMERON and Mr. MCCREERY were designated on the part of the Senate. The action of the Senate was immediately communicated to the House, but the organization of that body had not been effected, and the appointment of a committee was a legislative impossibility.

Fifteen minutes elapsed, and the Senate was getting impatient. About 1 o'clock Mr. GRIMES moved that the Senate appoint a committee of two to make the same announcement to the President, which was passed, and Mr. GRIMES and Mr. CRAGIN were selected to wait on President GRANT. The Senate then adjourned to 1:45. There was as much impatience among Senators as among the people to hear the names of the Cabinet nominees.

The scene on the floor became exceedingly animated. Senators gathered in groups of twos and threes, and fours and fives, privileged outsiders thronged the chamber, chatting on the subject. The occupants of the galleries remained in the full expectation that the long agony would soon be over. They were unwilling to surrender their seats, for the throng behind them too plainly told that their resumption would be an impossibility.

The Senate was again called to order at the appointed hour. Senator GRIMES rose in his seat and immediately informed the Senate that they had waited on the President, and that he would immediately communicate with Congress. In a few minutes Gen. RAWLINGS appeared at the main entrance of the Senate. He was recognized at once by the Vice-President. In firm tones he announced that he was directed by the President of the United States to deliver the accompanying messages to the Senate in writing. At the same time he drew two envelopes from his pocket, and handed them to the Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms, who brought them to the Vice-President's desk. These were the few pages of paper containing the names of the Cabinet to be.

A motion was immediately made to go into Executive session, to clear the galleries, and to close the doors. The spectators reluctantly left, and the corridors, halls and passages were thronged in a few minutes. It was impossible to move anywhere. The question heard on every side was "How about the Cabinet?" "When are we to hear their names?" and expressions of kindred character. Away down by the side doors and in the Senate private corridors are gathered correspondents in groups, watching for the opening of a door. There comes the Executive Clerk of the Senate. The list is in the hands of a few newspaper correspondents, WASHBURNE, CRESSWELL, COX, HOAR, BORIE, and STEWART, and in a few seconds they are in the hands of the telegraph operators, and in as many seconds more the names are in the principal cities of the country. The Cabinet officers were known in newspaper offices hundreds of miles distant, while the throng surging around the Senate doors was still ignorant of the chosen ones.

DISCOURTESY OF THE SENATE.

There was one incident which occurred yesterday during the ceremonies of the inauguration which deserves mention, not only because of its importance, but because it was the only material thing which marred the otherwise well-ordered arrangements. By some neglect the House of Representatives was not announced on their appearance in the Senate Chamber, and Speaker POMEROY and Gen. SCHENCK advanced up the aisle toward the presiding officer and there remained standing. The column of members from behind pushed in and blocked up the doorway, and some confusion occurred. No courtesy whatever was shown to the Speaker and Gen. SCHENCK, the Chairman of the Committee, and after standing in this awkward and embarrassing position for several minutes, Speaker POMEROY ordered a countermarch and led the column of members into the rotunda toward the platform. Arriving at the eastern door, the the policemen on guard barred egress, when Mr. POMEROY ordered them to stand aside by his authority as controlling the House half of the rotunda, and the column pushed through to the platform. The band mistook this for the regular procession, and struck up "Hail to the Chief" in earnest, but the leader was soon apprised of the state of affairs and the music subsided. The members then appended the action of Mr. POMEROY and Gen. SCHENCK on thus resenting a discourtesy as flagrant as it was unnecessary.

THE SENATE COMMITTEES.

The advent of so many new Senators to the body renders a change in the Committees necessary. A caucus was held this morning to consider the question, and a Committee, of which Mr. HOWE is the Chairman, appointed to report as soon as possible on the reorganization of all the committees of the Senate. SHERMAN will probably remain at the head of the Finance and TRUMBULL of the Judiciary Committee.

BUSINESS IN THE HOUSE.

The House spent the day chiefly in disposing of the cases of the Georgia and Louisiana members. After much debate they were severally referred to the Committee on Elections, when appointed. The case of FOSTER and COVODE, from the Twenty-first District of Pennsylvania, was also referred with instructions to make out a prima facie case, so as to admit one or the other to a seat pending the contest. This occupied nearly the whole day until 4 o'clock, when a resolution was carried to draw for seats, which was accomplished with the usual amount of good nature and laments of ill-success. Among those who succeeded in obtaining the best seats were JOHN A. LOGAN, WM. B. WASHBURN and ELIHU B. WASHBURNE, the new Secretary of State, THOS. W. FERRY, SAMUEL W. MOWRY, a new member, Gen. GARFIELD and others. The House then adjourned, as previously agreed upon, until Tuesday next, in order to give the Speaker time to make up the Committees, which he will announce about the middle of next week.

Mr. BLAINE has appointed young Mr. BARCLAY, son of the present venerable Journal Clerk of the House, to the position of Speaker's Page, to succeed WILLIE TODD, who followed Mr. COLFAX to the Senate.

THE HOUSE COMMITTEES.

The Committees of the House are now under consideration by Speaker BLAINE. There being ninety new members, the task will be unusually difficult. Mr. WASHBURNE's honorable promotion leaves the Chairmanship of Appropriations vacant, as was expected, and Mr. DAWES, by courtesy, usage and common consent will take that position. Mr. BUTLER, who is on this Committee, must necessarily go somewhere else, and great curiosity is manifested to see what will be done with him. Among the important committees on which the position of Chairman has become vacant are the following: Banking and Currency, Pacific Railroads, Commerce, Agriculture, Judiciary, Public Expenditures, Naval Affairs, Territories. Invalid Pensions and Accounts. The Judiciary will be difficult to fill so acceptably as it has been filled heretofore by the retiring Chairman, Hon. JAMES F. WILSON.

UTAH TO BE ADMITTED.

A bill for the admission of Utah or Deseret as a State will be introduced in the House by Delegate WM. H. HOOPER, on Monday. It is almost identical in language with the Nevada bill. It provides, however, for the enforcement of the laws of the United States so far as they are not impracticable in consequence of the existence of local provisions. This is the present expedient to get around the question of polygamy, but it is supposed the bill will be materially changed before being passed.

[illegible] Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Friday, March 5.

BIBLE PRESENTATION TO THE PRESIDENT.

This morning a committee, consisting of Chief Justice CHASE, Senator FRELINGHUYSEN and GEORGE H. STUART, waited upon the President, and, on behalf of the American Bible Society, presented him with a copy of the Holy Bible. There were present, besides the Committee, Mrs. GRANT, Gen. SCHOFIELD, J. PATTERSON, formerly Treasurer of the Christian Commission; Rev. Dr. DALE, of Philadelphia; Rev. GEO. A. HALL, of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city. The Chief Justice presented the letter from the President of the Bible Society, expressing the wish that the administration of President GRANT might be guided by its teachings. The President responded:

> "GENTLEMEN: I sincerely thank you for this token, and shall carefully preserve it and hand it down to my children in commemoration of this day."

The Bible is one of the finest published by the Society, and is handsomely bound in Turkey morocco. Printed in gilt letters, upon morocco, inside the cover, is the inscription: "Presented to ULYSSES S. GRANT, President of the United States, by the American Bible Society, March 4, 1869."

SERENADE TO THE PRESIDENT.

The members of Harmony Fire Company of Philadelphia to-night serenaded President GRANT at his private residence on I-street, he having previously been advised on the subject. The President appeared and shook hands with them as they filed past him.

A CABINET MEETING.

A Cabinet meeting has been called for 11 o'clock to-morrow. All members will be present except Messrs. HOAR and COX.

RESIGNATION OF MR. ROLLINS.

Hon. E. A. ROLLINS, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, having yesterday afternoon tendered his resignation of that office to President GRANT, the latter to-day authorized an acceptance of the same, to take effect upon the qualification of his successor, and has directed a response, in which he expresses his appreciation of the heavy responsibilities and duties which the office imposed upon Mr. ROLLINS, and of the fidelity and integrity with which they had been discharged.

PRESIDENT GRANT'S FATHER.

Mr. GRANT, father of the President, is recovering from the effects of his severe fall on the Capitol steps yesterday.

MR. JOHNSON'S NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

The Senate yesterday confirmed the following nominations:

James N. Marks, Collector of Customs for Philadelphia; Arthur D. Markley, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Sixth District of Pennsylvania; Peter B. Bailey, Postmaster at Fort Wayne, Ind.; Geo. H. Penfield, Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Thirteenth New-York District; Converse. W. C. Rowell, United States Attorney for Arizona; Horatio Fox, United States Consul at Trinidad; Isaac Gass, Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Eighth Ohio District; Alexander R. Banks, Agent for the Indians at the Upper Arkansas Agency; Geo. W. Wilkinson, Agent for the Winnebago Indians on the Missouri River; Jeremiah D. Hyde, Registrar in the Land Office at Visalia, Cal.; James Hare, Postmaster at Hays City, Kansas; John J. Wise, Postmaster at Penn Yan, N. Y.; John T. Smith, Postmaster at Springfield, Ill.; Clara W. Drake, Postmaster at Westfield, N. Y.; Harlan P. Welch, Postmaster at Ottawa, Kansas; Geo. H. Pierson, Postmaster at Salem, Mass.; Chauncy Harris, Postmaster at Elizabeth, N. Y.; Henry Boyd, Postmaster at White Plains, N. Y.; Bradford T. Simmons, Postmaster at Johnstown, N. Y.; Nathaniel T. Sawyer, Collector of Customs at Frenchman's Bay, Me.; Samuel T. Maddox, Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Third New-York District; Archibald M. Green, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Twenty-fourth New-York District; John E. Detrich, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Twelfth Illinois District; John P. O'Niell, United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania; Fred. A. Dockray, United States Attorney for the Southern District of Florida; Thomas L. Tullock, Paymaster in the Navy; Commodore Powell to be Rear Admiral. A number of army brevets were also confirmed.

ARMY ORDERS.

The following was issued to-day:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, March 5, 1869.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 9.—By direction of the President of the United States, so much of General Orders No. 7 from this office, dated Feb. 22, 1869, as retires Brigadier and Brevet Major-Gen. BENJAMIN W. BRICE, Paymaster-General, from active service, is revoked, and he will be considered as having been continuously on duty from Feb. 22, 1869.

By command of the General of the Army.

E. D. TOWNSEND,
Assistant-Adjutant-General.

The last military order issued by Gen. GRANT as General of the Army is dated March 3, and relates to an economical disposition of condemned Government property, as follows:

"Inspecting officers, in recommending the disposition to be made of condemned property, especially of the Quartermaster's Department, [illegible] no condemned articles, unless there are special reasons to the contrary, which reasons must be stated in the report, shall be sold."

By direction of the Secretary of War, the following officers are relieved from their present duties, and ordered to join their respective regiments without delay:

First Lieut. J. N. Purcell and Second Lieuts. W. W. Wood and H. H. Pierce, of the First Infantry; Brevet Capt. T. H. Bradley, Eleventh Infantry; Second Lieut. M. F. Gallagher, Sixteenth Infantry; Lieut.-Col. L. C. Hunt, Twentieth Infantry; Second Lieut. J. W. Sunderland, Twenty-fourth Infantry; First Lieut. A. W. Corliss, Thirty-third Infantry; First Lieuts. E. S. Ewing and H. J. Farnsworth, Thirty-fourth Infantry; Capt. George E. Head, Twenty-fourth Infantry, and First Lieut. John Hunter, ordered for examination before the St. Louis Retiring Board; Capt. Ephraim Williams, Fifth Infantry.

NATIONAL-BANK CHECKS.

The following is the text of the act in reference to certifying checks by National banks:

Be it enacted, &c., That it shall be unlawful for any officer, clerk or agent of any National Bank to certify any check drawn upon said bank, unless the person or company drawing the said check shall have on deposit in the said bank, at the time such check is certified, an amount of money equal to the amount specified in such check, and any check so certified by duly authorised officers shall be a good and valid objection against such bank; and any officer, clerk or agent of any National Bank violating the provisions of this act, shall subject such bank to the liability and proceedings on the part of the Comptroller, as provided for in section 50 of the National Banking law, approved June 3, 1864, passed the House of Representatives Feb. 13, 1869.

THE NEW CABINET.

Hon. Elihu B. Washburne, Secretary of State.

Mr. WASHBURNE, whom President GRANT has selected for his Secretary of State, was born on the 22d of September, 1816, in Livermore, Oxford County, Maine. Like so many others of our representative men, his early youth was passed in a printing office, he having served an apprenticeship in the office of the Kennebec Journal. He soon forsook the stick and rule, however, and commenced the study of law at Harvard University. Upon completing his studies, he removed to Galena, Ill., and commenced the practicing of his profession. He became interested in politics at an early age, and after having participated in one or two exciting local elections was nominated, in 1853, as a member of the Thirty-third Congress. After a spirited contest his election was secured, and he took his seat. He at once made a favorable impression in the House, and so well represented his constituents, that at the close of his term he was reëlected. From that time to the present he has been regularly returned from his district, and has thus held a seat in nine Congresses, including the present. Sixteen years of continuous service have won for him the title of "Father of the House." During this time he has served upon many standing committees, and for several sessions was Chairman of the Committee on Commerce. During the past two sessions he has been Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, and the vigorous assaults which he has been in the habit of making on the pet schemes of the lobbyists has made that particular class of legislators his inveterate enemies.

When the clouds of secession first began to appear, Mr. WASHBURNE was among the first to sound the alarm, and was also among the first to combat the enemy. In the halls of Congress his voice was heard denouncing the men as well as the measures that were calculated to destroy the Union, while in his own State he entered energetically into the work of enlisting, equipping and forwarding troops for service against the armed foe. At an early period of the war he became acquainted with Captain, now President, GRANT, and was the first to recognize in him those characteristics which have since made his name famous throughout the world. From that time he has been the intimate and steadfast friend of Gen. GRANT, never forsaking him in any emergency, defending him boldly with pen and personal influence when others assailed him, and manifesting not only a high appreciation of his abilities, but a warm personal friendship. During the last Presidential campaign, which resulted in the election of Gen. GRANT, that officer made Mr. WASHBURNE's house his temporary home, and there received the returns which declared him to be the chosen of the people.

Mr. WASHBURNE has been instrumental in saving to the Government millions of dollars within the past few years. Recognizing the necessity of reducing the expenses of the Government to the very lowest figure, he, as Chairman of the Appropriation Committee, carefully scrutinized every application for money, and mercilessly threw out all that were not absolutely necessary. Even those which he deemed necessary were reluctantly accorded, and many a vigorous debate and occasionally much ill-feeling was created in the House by the pertinacity with which he insisted upon his measures of retrenchment. Necessarily his position as Chairman of the Appropriation Committee involved a great amount of hard study as well as hard work, and as a consequence Mr. WASHBURNE is more familiar with the resources, expenditures and necessities of the country than any other public man. The hard work required of him in Congress has made sad havoc with his health, and recently he has been much broken down. On Thursday he went to the Capitol to see his friend inaugurated into the highest office in the land, and this was the first visit he had made to the House in many weeks. It is not thought that he will continue long in the position to which he has been called, but that he will speedily resign on account of his health, and leave to a younger and more vigorous man the responsible duties of that high office.

Alexander Turney Stewart, Secretary of the Treasury.

The gentleman who has been called upon to represent New-York in the Cabinet of President GRANT, and to assume the duties of Secretary of the Treasury—duties, which, at this particular period of our history, involves a degree of responsibility not equaled by that of any other department—is Mr. A. T. STEWART, the renowned "merchant Prince" of this City. His career as a merchant has been attended with a success never equaled in this country, and scarcely excelled in the older cities of Europe. Mr. STEWART was born in Belfast, Ireland, and is now 65 years of age. His parents died when he was 8 years old, and his maternal grandfather, a venerable Quaker gentleman, superintended his early education, giving him every advantage which his means afforded. It was his desire that his grandson should become a minister of the Gospel, and with this view he was prepared for college, and took his degree at Trinity College, Dublin. He was an ambitious scholar, manifesting a partiality for the classics, and particularly excelling in those studies. His love for the classic authors has never, amid all the cares and anxieties of a busy life, deserted him, and those who know him intimately in private life, assert that to-day he has a knowledge of Latin and Greek which many a professor of those languages might envy. An accident changed the plan of his life, and made him, instead of an expounder of Gospel truths, a dealer in silks and laces. In 1823 he came to New-York, and while prosecuting his studies became for a short time, to relieve a friend, a classical teacher. Having a little capital he invested it in the dry goods business with a gentleman claiming to have experience, and who was to conduct the business. After a short time this gentleman abandoned the enterprise, leaving a stock of goods upon the hands of young STEWART, and also leaving him responsible for the rent of the store, No. 262 Broadway. In no way daunted at this unexpected occurrence, Mr. STEWART boldly accepted the situation, and launched out in that calling which he has since so highly adorned and rendered so successful. He threw into his business all the energy, determination and talent that he possessed, and adopting from the first that motto, too generally lost sight of, "honesty is the best policy," pushed his trade far and wide. He soon obtained the confidence of all who had dealings with him, and it was not long before he was recognized as one of the leading merchants of New-York. Mr. STEWART, in his early days, never dreamed of the immense traffic that he would be called upon to direct and control, but his business grew upon his hands, and he was forced to enlarge his facilities. The operations of A. T. STEWART & Co. are now world-wide, and while he remains here superintending the whole, partners and agents of the house are found in every land buying at first hands the thousands of articles required at the two immense establishments on Broadway. There are large agencies at Manchester, England, for the collection and shipping of English goods; at Belfast a factory for the accumulation of linens; in Glasgow there is another for the collection of Scotch goods; in Berlin is a house for purchasing woolen goods; in Paris are collected East Indian, French and German goods. In fact, in every country, and in every important manufacturing city in the world, are to be found agents and buyers of the house of A. T. STEWART & Co. All these are directed by the great controling mind of the head of the firm, A. T. STEWART. During his whole career Mr. STEWART has been foremost in the encouragement of American manufactures, and by all means in his power has endeavored to foster upon American soil new branches of industry.

Mr. STEWART has accumulated in his business a fortune scarcely exceeded in amount by that of any other individual in this country. In 1863 he returned an income of $1,900,000; in 1864, $4,000,000; 1865, 1,600,000; and in 1866, $600,000. Throughout the war Mr. STEWART gave a cordial support to the Government, contributing not only liberally from his purse, but giving his powerful influence on all occasions to further the restoration of the Union. Mr. STEWART, in common with our merchants generally, lost heavily by the repudiation of their debts by Southern merchants at the beginning of the war. What Mr. STEWART's sentiments were at this time are best shown by the following letter written to a prominent merchant of Memphis, Tenn.:

> NEW-YORK, April 29, 1861.
> DEAR SIR: Your letter requesting to know whether or not I had offered a million of dollars to the Government for the purposes of the war, and at the same time informing me that neither yourself nor your friends would pay their debts to the firm as they mature, has been received.
> The intention not to pay seems to be nearly universal in the South, aggravated in your case by the assurance that it does not arise from inability; but, whatever may be your determination, or that of others at the South, it shall not change my course. All that I have of position and wealth I owe to the free institutions of the United States; under which, in common with all others, North and South, protection to life, liberty and property, has been enjoyed in the fullest manner. The Government to which these blessings are due calls on her citizens to protect the capital of the Union from threatened assault; and, although the offer to which you refer has not in terms been made by me, I yet dedicate all that I have, as I will, if need be, my life, to the service of the country—for to that country I am bound by the strongest ties of affection and duty.
> I had hoped that Tennessee would be loyal to the Constitution. But, however extensive may be secession or repudiation, as long as there are any to uphold the sovereignty of the United States, I shall be with them supporting the flag. Yours, &c.,
> ALEXANDER T. STEWART.
> To Mr. J. P. STRANGE, Memphis, Tenn.

While always manifesting a decided interest in political affairs, Mr. STEWART has never been a prominent politician. Previous to the war he was a Democrat, but that great struggle transformed him into a conservative Republican. He became a great admirer of Gen. GRANT, and from the time his name was mentioned in connection with the Presidency has been one of his warmest supporters. He contributed largely to the fund which was presented to Gen. GRANT at the close of the war.

Mr. STEWART has ever been a liberal giver to public as well as private charities, but never conspicuously so. Public enterprises calculated to develop the resources of the City or the country have also received liberal encouragement at his hands. His own enterprise in the prosecution of his business has contributed greatly to enrich and beautify our City. His immense stores on Broadway are well known throughout the country as the most capacious, convenient and beautiful commercial houses in the country, while the magnificent marble residence he is building on Fifth-avenue has never been even approached in point of magnificence.

It is understood that Mr. STEWART has signified his willingness to accept the position to which the President has appointed him. Should he there display the energy and genius which he has displayed in his private business, the country may be assured that the retrenchment and the faithful collection of the revenues required by President GRANT, will be accomplished.

Major-Gen. John M. Schofield, Secretary of War.

Gen. SCHOFIELD is the only Cabinet officer of the late Administration who is retained by President GRANT. During the recent impeachment trial, while the office of Secretary of War was a matter of contest between the late President and Congress, Gen. SCHOFIELD was accepted as a compromise, and has thus far discharged the duties of the office to the satisfaction of all parties concerned. It was said at the time that his appointment was then due to Gen. GRANT's influence. Gen. SCHOFIELD was born in Chautauqua County, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1831. When he was twelve years of age his father removed to Illinois. When of proper age young SCHOFIELD was entered at West Point, and credited to the State of Illinois. He graduated in 1853, and was immediately attached to the Second Regiment of Artillery as Brevet Second Lieutenant. For some time he was stationed at Fort Moultrie, South Carolina, with a portion of his regiment. Having attained the full rank of a Lieutenant of Artillery, he was detailed to the Military Academy of which he was so recently a graduate, as instructor in Natural Philosophy, which chair he filled for five years. He obtained, in 1860, at the earnest request of some of his admirers, a leave of absence, for the purpose of enabling him to accept the chair of Natural Philosophy in Washington University, at St. Louis, Missouri. The rebellious spirit which led to secession and our recent war, early manifested itself in Missouri, and scarcely had the rebel guns at Charleston proclaimed that actual hostilities had begun, ere sympathizing Missourians announced themselves in readiness for the strife. In this emergency every loyal man was called to the aid of the Government, and among the first to respond was Lieut. SCHOFIELD. He was appointed Major in the First Regiment of Missouri Infantry, and assigned to duty as mustering officer. He was soon appointed to the staff of Gen. LYON, and served with him as Chief of Staff up to the time of his death, which occurred at the battle of Wilson's Creek. Major SCHOFIELD was then appointed a Brigadier-General, and assigned to the command of Missouri militia. He was subsequently assigned to the command of the State of Missouri, and still later to the command of the entire Department. He led the frontier army against Gen. HINDMAN at the time of the latter's invasion of Missouri, and drove the rebel forces back to the wilds of Arkansas. In November, 1862, he was commissioned a Major-General of Volunteers, and as such rendered efficient service in the various departments to which he was assigned. At the close of the war he was made a Brigadier-General in the regular army, and Major-General by Brevet. He then made a tour of inspection through the Southern States, after which he was assigned to the command of the First Military District, comprising the State of Virginia. His administration of civil affairs and his enforcement of the Reconstruction laws of Congress gave great satisfaction not only to the people who were specially subject to him, but to the entire country. When, therefore, he was nominated to be Secretary of War, the appointment was universally hailed as a good one. He entered upon the duties of the office June 1, 1868, and will doubtless continue in the position until it shall be his pleasure to resign. This, it is understood, he will speedily do, preferring the duties of his military rank to those of a civil nature. President GRANT not only appointed him yesterday to a Cabinet position, but also nominated him to be a Major-General of the regular army, vice Gen. SHERIDAN promoted, which nomination the Senate immediately confirmed. President GRANT some time since announced that the appointment of Gen. SCHOFIELD as Secretary of War was simply temporary, and that a civilian would shortly be appointed to relieve the present incumbent.

Adolph E. Borie, Secretary of the Navy.

The gentleman whom President GRANT has selected to succeed Secretary WELLES, who for eight years has stood at the head of the Navy Department, is, of all the new Cabinet, the least generally known. His name has never before been prominently brought before the country, and many are the speculations regarding his antecedents. The most that is known is that he is a prosperous merchant of Philadelphia. He is by birth a Frenchman, but has lived in Philadelphia since his early youth. His father was a merchant, and accumulated considerable property, which his son inherited. ADOLPH succeeded to his father's business, bringing to it the activity and zeal that was to be expected from a young man. His education has been wholly that of a commercial gentleman, and he is spoken of as possessing the highest integrity and a delicate sense of honor. He is of the firm of MCKEAN, BORIE & CO., commission merchants. He is about 50 years of age.

Jacob Dolson Cox, Secretary of the Interior.

This gentleman, whom President GRANT has called to discharge the onerous duties of Secretary of the Interior, was born on the 27th of October, 1828, in Montreal, Canada. His parents were natives of the United States, and were only temporarily sojourning in Canada. Soon after the birth of JACOB, his parents returned to their proper home in New-York City, where JACOB spent his childhood and youth. When about 20 years of age Mr. COX removed to Ohio, graduated at Oberlin College in 1851, and in the following year began the practice of law at Warren. In 1859 he was elected to the State Senate by the Republican Party, and at the outbreak of the war was looked upon as one of the leading Radicals of that body. His associations at that time were such as to induce his party to look upon him as irrevocably committed to the more advanced doctrines of Republicanism.

Immediately upon the commencement of actual hostilities, Senator COX devoted himself to the organization of volunteers for the war, receiving a commission as Brigadier-General of volunteers. Soon after he was ordered with his brigade to West Virginia, and placed in command of the District of Kanawha. Here, under command of Gen. ROSECRANS, his command did effective, but not particularly brilliant service. He was subsequently assigned to the Ninth Corps, and participated in the battles of South Mountain and Antietam, commanding the corps after the fall of Gen. RENO. For his services in this campaign he was made a Major-General. Subsequently he commanded, with credit to himself and the army, a division of the Twenty-third Corps during the Atlanta campaign, the numerous engagements which occurred serving to make that campaign almost a continuous battle. During the pursuit of HOOD's army, following the fall of Atlanta, Gen. COX commanded the Twenty-third Corps with uniform success. He also rendered gallant service with that corps during HOOD's pursuit of Gen. THOMAS' army, which ended in the triumphant success of the Union forces at the battle of Nashville. His corps was soon after ordered to the South, to open communication from the Atlantic seaboard with Gen. SHERMAN during his historic "march to the sea." Here he was violently attacked by Gen. BRAGG, but succeeded in repulsing his troops, with great loss.

When Gen. SHERMAN reached the coast the war was ended; Gen. COX was ordered back to Ohio to superintend the mustering out of troops. While so engaged he was nominated, and subsequently elected Governor of Ohio by the Republican Party. During the campaign he gave great offence to his party, and materially weakened his own vote by writing a letter in reply to his Oberlin friends, in which he took ground against negro suffrage, and favored the policy of the forcible colonization of the recently-emancipated race. The disaffection thus created between Gov. COX and his party was greatly increased by his subsequent indorsement, to a great extent, of the policy of ANDREW JOHNSON, and although Gov. COX did not follow Mr. JOHNSON in his extreme views, nor in his violent opposition to Congressional enactments, yet he was deemed altogether too conservative to warrant his nomination for a second gubernatorial term. Understanding this feeling, he declined in advance the renomination. This ended the public career of Gen. COX for the time, and he has since been comparatively withdrawn from public attention until yesterday, when his appointment to a position in President GRANT's Cabinet brought him more prominently before the people than ever before.

In personal appearance Secretary COX is trim, compact and elegant. He is a well-read lawyer, is versed in belles-letters, and is generally well informed regarding ancient and modern history and politics, and is also an excellent military authority. He is an elegant and forcible writer, and a debater of unusual power and skill. While he never commanded the enthusiasm of the troops who served under him, they nevertheless regarded him as an able commander, who could be trusted in any emergency. While his appointment to the Cabinet is somewhat unexpected, it is felt that he will bring to the discharge of the duties of Secretary of the Interior, energy, ability and the utmost integrity.

John A. J. Cresswell, Postmaster-General.

The name of Mr. CRESSWELL, of Maryland, is one of the names which has been frequently mentioned of late in connection with Gen. GRANT's Cabinet. In this solitary instance the numerous Cabinet makers, who have been so prolific with their "slates" were in the right. His appointment was strongly urged, the Southern Republicans claiming that they were entitled to at least one voice in the Cabinet. Mr. CRESSWELL was born at Port Deposit, Md., Nov. 18, 1828. He graduated at Dickinson College, Penn., in 1850, and immediately after commenced the practice of law at the Maryland Bar. In 1861 he was elected to the Lower House of the State Legislature. During the following year served as Adjutant-General of the State, and while so serving was elected a Representative from Maryland to the Thirty-eighth Congress. In 1864 he was a delegate to the Baltimore Convention. In 1865 he was elected to the United States Senate for the unexpired term of Hon. T. H. HICKS, who died during that session. He took a prominent part in the important debates of this session, contributing materially to strengthen the hands of the Republicans. He was a delegate to the Loyalists' Convention in Philadelphia in 1866, and also to the Baltimore Border States Convention in 1867. Mr. CRESSWELL is represented to be a young men of great energy and vigor, and well conversant with the matters pertaining to the Department of which he is henceforth to be the recognized chief.

E. Rockwood Hoar, Attorney-General.

Judge E. ROCKWOOD HOAR, the new Attorney-General, is a grandson of ROGER SHERMAN, of Connecticut, and a son of the late Hon. SAMUEL HOAR, who was a Representative in Congress from 1835 to 1837. He is a native of Concord, Mass. He is now an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, enjoys a high reputation for learning and ability, and has been a prominent candidate for the position of Chief Justice of the State.

THE REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Columbus Delano, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The appointment of Mr. DELANO to supersede Mr. ROLLINS as Commissioner of Internal Revenue was not altogether unexpected. Busy Washington correspondents have of late used his name freely in connection with this position. Mr. DELANO is a native of Vermont, but removed to Ohio in 1817, where he read law and became eminent in his profession. In 1844 he was elected to the House of Representatives at Washington. In 1847 he came within two votes of being the Whig nominee for Governor of Ohio, and in 1860 was a prominent member of the Convention which nominated ABRAHAM LINCOLN. In 1861 he was appointed Commissary-General of Ohio, a position which he filled with great efficiency till the General Government assumed the subsistence of State troops. In 1862 he was a prominent candidate of his party for United States Senator, and again lacked but two votes of a nomination. In the following year he was a member of the Ohio House of Representatives, in which he held a commanding position. In 1864 he was a member of the Baltimore National Republican Convention which nominated LINCOLN and JOHNSON, and was Chairman of the Ohio Delegation. The same year he was again elected to Congress, (the Thirty-ninth,) and served as Chairman of the Committee on Claims. He was returned to the Fortieth Congress, and his term closes on the 4th inst. Of late years Mr. DELANO has relinquished his practice as a lawyer, and has devoted himself to farming and banking. His experience as a member of the House has made him familiar with the workings of our revenue system, and his well-known energy and determination, directed by the new and able Secretary of the Treasury, will doubtless work a great reform in the matter of revenue collections.

MR. JOHNSON'S CABINET.

The Probable Future Movements of its Members.

From the Washington Star, March 4.

Mr. SEWARD will proceed directly to Auburn to seek that repose from the cares of public life which he has earned by an unusually long and brilliant official career, twenty years of which have been spent in Washington, twelve as United States Senator from New-York, and eight as Secretary of State. After a while he will probably make the overland trip to California and thence along the Pacific coast to South America, with a view to seeing for himself how the problem of self-government is being solved by the people of that unsettled section of the globe. This trip only is needed to round up Mr. SEWARD's personal knowledge of the most interesting portions of the world; as it will be remembered he made an extensive tour of Europe and the Orient several years ago.

Mr. MCCULLOCH leaves the Treasury for a little place in the country near Washington, where he will take his ease until he decides whether he will again enter into the active pursuits of life. It is hoped, however, by his friends, and they are many and warm, that he will retain his pleasant and hospitable home in this city, and in any event spend his Winters here. In the meantime, rumor is busy linking his name with future financial operations, both here and in Europe.

Gen. SCHOFIELD will continue at the head of the War Department until the President elect shall be in a position to spare his valuable services in that capacity, when he will return to the army with well-won civil honors, and, as is generally believed, with the full rank of a Major-General.

Mr. WELLES will remain in the city until May next, when he will return to Connecticut, where he hopes to spend the remainder of his days in comfortable retiracy from the busy cares of life.

Mr. EVARTS exchanges the portfolio of the Attorney-General's office for an extensive practice in New-York, which is, of course, much more profitable, and to a gentleman of his temperament and tastes, far more pleasant than the place he vacates.

Mr. BROWNING returns to his old home at Quincy, Ill., where he proposes to spend the balance of his life among the friends of his earlier manhood. He proposes to resume the practice of law, in a somewhat limited range, and does not, we believe, intend to keep up his connection with the Supreme Court here.

Mr. RANDALL will probably remain in Washington for a month or two, but will return to Wisconsin by early Summer. His future plans are not yet fully developed, we believe; but with his active temperament and large acquaintance with the people of his State, he will hardly be able to keep from turning his attention to public and political matters.

New-Jersey Legislation—Gov. Randolph Vetoes a Base-ball Bill.

Gov. RANDOLPH, of New-Jersey, has vetoed a bill to incorporate a base-ball club in Jersey City. The bill authorized the club to give "exhibitions of feats of strength, and all games requiring skill and science;" and also authorised it to appoint one or more constables to act upon its grounds and in the immediate vicinity. Upon these points Gov. RANDOLPH says:

> "I respectfully submit that, with the existing diversity of opinion as to what constitutes 'skilful and scientific' games, the section of the bill may indirectly sanction and legalise that which the long-established laws of the State have made illegal.
> I cannot sanction, by an act of mine, the delegation of so important a power as that of the arrest of citizens to persons who may be appointed without sufficient care, or at the caprice of a private corporation of the State. The evils growing out of the unduly guarded exercise of such a power—always to be most carefully exercised—are too manifest to need further reference at my hands.
> If your honorable bodies, upon reflection, deem the incorporation of base ball clubs and similar societies (beneficial no doubt when properly conducted,) of sufficient importance to engage your deliberation and thought, I hope you may concur with me in the propriety of confining such organizations to the exercise of the simplest powers consistent with corporate existence.

Religious Statistics of Southern Colleges.

At a late meeting in Lexington, Va., the Chairman of the Committee on Religious Intelligence of the Young Men's Christian Association read a report on the religious condition of the Southern colleges, from which we cull the following items:

One hundred and four colleges report 876 instructors, of whom 739 profess religion; 17,498 students, of whom 7,664 are church members, 2,431 candidates for the ministry, and 101 have the foreign mission work in view. They have 156 prayer-meetings, and had during the past year twenty-nine revivals and 365 professions of conversion. Forty-six Southern institutions report 370 instructors, of whom 285 are church members; 7,229 students, of whom 2,432 are professors of religion and 697 candidates for the ministry. In Virginia nine colleges and two theological seminaries report 144 instructors, of whom 85 profess religion; and 2,277 students, of whom 571 profess religion and 151 are candidates for the ministry.

Entertainment at the Phelps Lodging-House.

Long before the regular hour of admission an anxious crowd of street boys surrounded the doors of their home, at No. 327 Rivington-street, last evening, indicating that something extraordinary was on the tapis. Mr. KNOWLES, the teacher of the evening school, had intimated that he would treat them to a series of amusing and instructive scientific experiments. So, after supper, the school-room was filled with an eager company, who were delighted and astonished for nearly two hours by their teacher's wonderful exhibitions and experiments in chemistry and experimental philosophy. The repeated cheers of the boys showed their appreciation and delight with the evening's entertainment. The great and increasing numbers who resort to this institution from all parts of the City, show that the efforts of Mr. CALDER, the Superintendent, to make it a model lodging-house for homeless boys, are appreciated by the class for whose benefit the home was established.

Relief for Cuba.

A meeting of Cuban ladies takes place every Tuesday and Friday, at No. 139 West Twentieth-street, to devise means of aiding the insurgents of Cuba, by furnishing medicines and clothing to the sick and wounded. A fair is proposed to take place in a fortnight, and contributions of articles are to be left at No. 169 Lexington-avenue. Any tokens of remembrance on the part of the public, will be received there with warm appreciation. Notice of the time and locality of the fair will shortly be published. At the meeting yesterday, subscriptions to the extent of about $2,000 were announced as having been collected since the previous Friday. The room was adorned with the new flag of independent Cuba, consisting of a white ground, broadly bordered with blue, and containing at the base a large mass of red, of triangular shape, in the centre of which was a star. The meetings held at the above address are of a different society from those at the St. Julien Hotel.

Reopening of the Brooklyn Skating Rink.

Last evening the Brooklyn Skating Rink presented quite an attractive and very picturesque scene on the occasion of its reopening for skating purposes, the late cold spell of weather having enabled Manager CHICHESTER to provide a very fine surface of ice. Though the notice of the reopening was short, quite a numerous and fashionable assemblage of spectators were gathered within the building, COLLETTE's fine band of music discoursing excellent music, while the scene on the ice was lovely in the extreme. The experts of the Brooklyn Club were present in force, and also a number of graceful lady skaters. The ice was in finer condition than even before, and as the thermometer went down to 15° last night, there will be a fine sheet of ice to-day, the rink being opened from 9 A. M. to 11 P. M. to-day. The band will be in attendance afternoon and evening, and the Brooklyn Club members will meet in the evening at the rink.

OBITUARY.

Capt. Henry D. Cutting.

On Tuesday last the flags of the vessels in our docks and piers were displayed at half mast to do honor to the memory of one of the most popular and deserving shipmasters sailing from the port of New-York, Capt. HENRY D. CUTTING, commanding the steamship Helvetia.

Capt. CUTTING was born in Yarmouth, England, in 1837, and belonged to a seafaring family. His father was also a master mariner, and was lost at sea years ago. His brother, Capt. ROBERT CUTTING, now commands the steamship Colorado, and is Commodore of Messrs. Williams & Guion's Line. At twelve years of age HARRY CUTTING first left home to try his fortunes on the ocean. As a boy he commenced his term of service on the ship Guy Mannering, then owned by ROBERT L. TAYLOR. Rapidly rising in the estimation of his superiors, he, by attention to his duties and ability in performing them, was four years afterward, at the age of sixteen years, a case almost unprecedented, made junior officer of one of the packets sailing in the employ of Messrs. WILLIAMS & GUION between New-York and Liverpool. Step by step he advanced, and when twenty-four years old was made master of one of the finest ships in the line.

His powers here had fuller scope. His signal ability as a seaman and daring as a man attracted the attention of other ship-owners, and the National Steamship Company offered him the captaincy of one of their magnificent iron steamships. In that line he continued for four years, commanding successively the Louisiana, England, Erin, Helvetia and Denmark. It was intended that he should command the new steamer soon to be launched by this Company, but he was taken away before the ship was completed. In December last, while on his way to Liverpool, and during a terrific storm, he descried a wreck; where many other masters might have hesitated he considered not a moment, but bent every energy to rescue the sufferers, and succeeded in saving the Captain and crew—fourteen souls in all—of the bark Advice, which had been shattered in the gale.

He died a sailor's death. With the tempest howling about his ears, the waves breaking over his ship and the storm raging greater than has been known on the Atlantic for many years, he, despite the urgent entreaty of his officers, remained at the post of danger, guarding the souls committed to his charge, until finally a terrific wave swept him away, and so, in the wild waste of waters, was carried to its last account a noble and heroic soul.

He leaves a wife and three children in Liverpool to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father. He was a member of Independent Royal Arch Lodge No. 2, F. and A. M., of this City, who will honor his memory by convening a Lodge of Sorrow.

THE GAS MONOPOLIES.

Continuation of the Investigation by the Assembly Committee.

The Committee appointed by the Assembly to investigate the affairs of the Gas Companies met again yesterday at 10 A. M.

Mr. H. P. McGowan, Secretary of the Harlem Gaslight Company, was the first witness examined. He testified that the original price of the stock of the Company was $50, but that he knew of a recent sale at which it brought $195; he received a salary of $4,000; the largest dividend was issued in February, 1866, when an extra dividend of 33⅓ per cent. was issued; the Company has about sixty miles of pipe; the original capital of the Company was $150,000, and has been increased from time to time, until now it is $1,000,000.

Wm. H. Davidson, State Inspector of Gas Meters, being recalled, testified that he had been in error as to former statements; he had said that eight per cent. was the greatest error he had discovered; but on further examination he had found records of larger errors, ranging from nine to sixteen per cent.

John Firman, a practical gas-fitter, testified that he had been for twenty years engaged in that portion of the City supplied by the New-York Gas Company, and had found that the gas was insufficient in quality.

Dr. Elmer said that double the quantity of gas might be made from the same quantity of material by an alteration of the present or an adoption of new processes; he thought that this could be done by utilizing the hydrogen in the materials, thus reducing the expense and increasing the illuminating power; he was the discoverer of a process which he had been experimenting upon for many years, and he was convinced that the process could be successfully carried out; his experience as a gas consumer had shown him that the complaints of consumers were not without foundation; the gas of Boston he thought to be the best in the country; it was about eighteen candles; the gas of Philadelphia is about the same quality as that of New-York; for the purification of gas, he thought the lime process was the best, but that the disagreeable odors arising from it could be obviated by a conjunction of that process with the oxide of iron; he thought the Companies might supply a better quality of gas and at a lower price than they at present do; he was not in any way interested in gas companies.

Mr. Joseph Wood, resident at No. 20 Fourth-avenue, complained that he had been charged for 34,000 feet of gas in one month, having used ten burners about two hours a night; he complained to the Manhattan Gas Company, and told them that the bill was a mistake; after the protest, a bill for $36 30, instead of $102, was rendered; he told them he wanted a new meter, having found out that the one he had was an old one; the Inspector found that the register showed 500 feet in one day; the next day it showed 300 feet; on that day he dispensed with four lights; the Company then sent him a bill of $12; the bill for $36 was at $3 a thousand, and that for $12 was for $2 50 per 1,000 feet.

Mr. C. L. Everett, Vice-President of the Gas Company, was the next witness. He testified that he also held the position of Treasurer; the present value of the stock was at the rate of $250 for $100 of stock; the receipts of the Company for 1868 were about $1,800,000; he did not know how often dividends were declared; the largest dividend declared was 50 per cent. in one year; 10 per cent. of this was the semi-annual dividend, and 40 per cent. an extra dividend; the President of the Company is the proper custodian of the books; he could not say what the Company was now paying for coal; the stock of the Company is so valuable because it has not been watered; the Company started on $1,000,000; that is the present capital stock of the Company; another reason for the value of the stock is the large increase in the value of the property of the Company; the dividends are declared on the original amount of stock; the property of the Company comprised so many different lots that he was unable to say how much it was worth; the stockholders do not complain of the dividends; he, personally, was well satisfied; in view of the harzards of the business, he did not consider the profits of the Company too large; the real estate of the Company would sell for $500,000; the deposits as security amount to about $150,000; altogether the assets of the Company amount to more than $1,000,000; the Company issued extra shares about five years ago, to the extent of $250,000—making $1,000,000; the dividends have been paid on these shares as well as the rest; the consumers of the Company have not suffered for want of a plentiful supply of gas; there has been but little complaint.

Joseph Sampson, residing corner of Broadway and Bond-street, testified that he was a stockholder in the Manhattan and New-York Gaslight Companies; he was a director of the New-York Gaslight Company; the Company declared regular dividends, in May and November, of five per cent. cash; they declared these dividends at their regular meetings, and declared extra dividends in the same way; last year there were four dividends one of 5 per cent in May, another of 20 per cent., and another, he thought, of 20 per cent., and another of 5 per cent., making 50 per cent. for 1868; for many years the dividends amounted to as much as this; the Company some years since increased its stock from $750,000 to $1,000,000, giving additional shares to the stockholders pro rata; within six months he had paid 300 per cent. for some stock (worth $50 a share) of this Company, that is, $150 per share; he had never, as a stockholder, been assessed to pay for improvements and repairs, they were paid for by the Company without interfering with the dividends; his impression was that there was a surplus on the books of the Company as large as the capital of the Company—$1,000,000; he had received certificates of indebtedness from the Manhattan Company of fifty per cent. on their capital.

Moses Taylor was next sworn.—He testified that he was a director in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Co., which brings anthracite coals to this market; this anthracite coal was never used by the gas companies; they could not make gas of it; he was a stockholder in the Metropolitan, the Manhattan and the New-York Gaslight Companies; in the Metropolitan, he thought, he received 12 per cent. dividends in 1868; its capital was $2,500,000; he received dividends from the New-York Company last year amounting to 50 per cent.; in the Manhattan Gas Company he could not recollect what dividends he received last year; he held certificates of indebtedness of that Company, and received 7 per cent. dividends on them semi-annually.

Samuel Sloan, President of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, was next sworn: He was a director and stockholder of the Manhattan Gas Company; its dividends for 1868 he thought were three of five per cent.; he was not sure; had held certificates of indebtedness and sold them.

John B. Boughton, of the Journal of Commerce, testified that the New-York Gas Company supplied the Journal of Commerce office with gas; previous to last Wednesday the gas had been deficient and did not give enough light; it varied; some nights they had been compelled to use candles in the composing-room; since Wednesday the gas had been better; the gas seemed to be of the same degree of illuminating power in the upper and lower stories of the building; the pipes have not been changed, but on Wednesday night the gas was remarkably good, and this improvement followed the appearance of certain articles on the subject in the Journal of Commerce; the quality of the gas before Wednesday was poor, and it had an offensive smell; this was all changed now, and it would appear that the Company was now manufacturing a better kind of gas; the offensive odors during the last few months had been increasing, and the light had not been so good during that period as it was two years ago.

Several other witnesses were examined but their evidence was of little importance, being merely corroborative of that already given.

The Committee at this point took a recess till 7:30 P. M.

The Committee held an evening session commencing at 7:30 P. M., when Samuel N. Pike testified that his bills had increased since he first opened his Opera House, although his performances lasted three hours only, instead of four hours, as before; the light varied, sometimes it was very bad indeed; he understood that since he sold the Opera House the gas bills had been still larger; he called the attention of the person who inspected the meter to the discrepancy; the latter could not account for it; he said his duty was only to inspect the meter; he paid from $200 to $300 a week for the gas; the increase in the gas bill was about 25 per cent. from the time he first opened, Jan. 9, 1868; the bills were higher the next Summer than they were that Winter.

James Boyle, of No. 107 Prince-street, testified that his gas bills, always for the same number of burners, had been as follows:

Jan. 6, 1861	$15 96	Jan. 6, 1866	$27 13
Jan. 11, 1862	18 25	Jan. 6, 1867	25 28
Jan. 6, 1863	17 00	Jan. 10, 1868	19 23
Jan. 4, 1864	18 00	Jan. 13, 1869	28 50
Jan. 6, 1865	22 75

For the last three years he was obliged to close his liquor store at 12 o'clock every night and not to open on Sundays. Previous to that he was open till 1 o'clock every night, Sundays included. Last year he had five-foot burners put on at the suggestion of a practical gasfitter, on account of the bills being so large; it made no difference in the bills. The burners were changed in May, 1868; in that month the bill was $12 65. The bill June 20, 1868, was $14 85. On one occasion, when he complained to the man who received the money at the cashier's desk, the latter told him if he didn't like it not to burn the gas, and that he had not time to talk to him.

John W Greaton, of No. 291 Union-street, Brooklyn, testified that he had lived there about fourteen years; the Brooklyn Gaslight Company compelled him to pay a bill against a former tenant before they would give him gas; he paid the bill and made a deposit; his bills then ran from $1 50 a month to about $6 or $7; then they were told they were paying too much for gas and the old Company reduced their price; the Citizens' Company was formed and offered to give better gas cheaper with no deposit; he then took gas from this new Company. For a while his bills were only about $5, but since then his bills had run up to $10 and $12, and his consumption was not one-fourth of what it was with the old Company. He tried to get up another new Company, but could not get permission to lay pipes. Then he offered to furnish the Company with all the gas they wanted at $1 per 1,000 feet. There was too much hydrogen in the gas now making by the Company in consequence of the dampness of the coal they use. The Company used a blower or exhauster which took the gas over too rich, and the result was bad gas with too much hydrogen. The witness was requested to prepare a statement of his views with regard to the abuses of the Gas Companies, and the Committee adjourned till 10 A. M. on Monday.

Fire in Madison-street.

At 6 o'clock yesterday morning the two-story frame building No. 34 Madison-street, owned by PHELPS, DODGE & Co., was completely destroyed by fire, together with its contents. The loss on the building is $1,000, and is probably covered by insurance. The first floor was occupied by MICHAEL GIBBONS, furniture dealer, who estimates his loss at $1,000, and is insured for the same amount in the Rutgers Fire Insurance Company. JOHN KELLY, junk dealer, who was also on the first floor, lost $800, and is fully insured. PATRICK MOLLY used the upper floor as a carpenter shop, and lost $300 in the destruction of his stock; had no insurance.

FEMALE NORMAL SCHOOL.

Projected New Building in West Sixty-first-street—Description of the Edifice and its Purposes.

The New-York Board of Education has published an invitation for sealed proposals for the erection of a new building, to be used as a Female Normal School. The edifice will be located on the west side of Sixty-first-street, near Broadway, and will be one of the finest in the country. The lots upon which it is to be erected are four in number, are about 100 feet square, and were purchased in March, 1864, for the comparatively trifling sum of $13,000. Since that time the Central Park improvements have increased the value of the ground, until to-day they are said to be worth $75,000 at least.

The main building is to be 52 feet in width and 93 feet in depth. The two front wings will measure 21½ feet in width by 30 feet in depth, and the two rear wings 24 feet by 23½ feet each. In addition to these there will be two stair wings, each 10 feet by 14 feet. The building will be 85 feet in height, from the ground to the peak, and will be surmounted by an observatory 19 feet high.

The entire front of the structure and the returns on the wings are to be faced with the best quality of Philadelphia pressed front bricks of uniorm color. The sides and rears of the main building and of wings, towers and chimneys, kitchen jambs, both sides of fence walls, and stairways above cellar, where blue stone steps are used, are to be faced with first quality Croton Point or other approved front bricks. All front bricks are to be approved by the Superintendent before they are brought on the premises, and all other brick walls to be built with the best well-burnt hard North River bricks, all to be well wet when used. The Philadelphia and Croton bricks to be laid in white putty mortar, with flush joints, and nicely cleaned down and oiled. The front coping, for railing, front door sills, platforms, steps, water-table, and one base stone, are to be of Connecticut granite, fine cut with patent hammer. All other cut stone is to be of the best quality Dorchester, of a uniform color, and to be polished and vermiculated. The height of the stories, in the clear, will be as follows: Cellar, 9 feet; first story, 11 feet 4 inches; second and third stories, 15 feet 2 inches each; fourth story, 15 feet 2 inches; in class-rooms, 21 feet in the main room and 38½ feet in the centre. The side and rear faces of the edifice will be nicely finished, as it will stand in an isolated situation.

The ground floor will be divided into several apartments. Besides the janitor's rooms, there will be a large calisthenium, promenade, and library and committee room. There will be sixteen class-rooms, eight on the second and eight on the third floor, capable of accommodating from 1,200 to 1,500 pupils. Two of these rooms on each floor are separated by sliding doors, so that when desirable they can be joined, as lecture-rooms. Besides the class-rooms on the second floor, there is a room in which scientific apparatus are to be kept. The entire fourth floor is to be used as a reception-room. It will measure 48 by 89 feet, in area, and will be adorned with a gallery running half way around the room. On the floor there will be seating room for about 600 persons, and in the balcony for not fewer than 300. With crowding it is thought that 1,200 persons could be accommodated. The observatory will be devoted to the aid of pupils in astronomy. It will be furnished with a first-class stationary telescope, and other needed apparatus. The proposals for building must all be submitted before the 17th inst., immediately after which time the work will be commenced. It will probably take one year to complete the edifice, and its cost will not be less than $150,000. The desire of the Board is to make it the handsomest, most commodious and the safest school building in the country. The plans were drawn by Mr. DAVID T. STAGG, the accomplished draughtsman of the Board, and were supervised by Superintendent JAS. MILLER.

The design of the edifice is to accommodate young ladies who are, already, or who may desire to become, teachers. The supplementary classes of our Grammar Schools will be removed thereto as soon as possible, and will be taught, daily, as at present. Teachers who may desire to attend will be enabled to do so on Saturdays throughout the year. This project will probably necessitate the employment of twenty or thirty new teachers, but it is said that their salaries will not be any greater than are those of day-school teachers. Various names have been presented for Principal of the institution, the most popular of which appears to be that of Mr. THOS. F. HARRISON, with whose history in connection with educational interests our readers are, doubtless, familiar. It is thought that Mr. HARRISON will obtain the appointment.

Meeting of Legislative Committees.

The Special Legislative Committee, appointed by the Assembly to investigate into the affairs of the Merchants' Union Express Company, in the matter of transference of stock to the American Express Company, and other matters, continued their session at the Metropolitan Hotel yesterday. The committee consists of Hon. Messrs. RAY, of Ontario; HACKETT, of Onondaga; WRIGHT, of Monroe; HUSTED, of Westchester; and MILLER, of Seneca. Their time has thus far been occupied in arranging plans for the collection of evidence, which it is hinted will develop facts and figures of a highly interesting and important nature. They will probably adjourn to-day or Monday, to meet at Albany.

The Committee on Contested Elections are yet prosecuting their work at the Metropolitan Hotel. Yesterday they were engaged in receiving testimony, the particulars of which were not made known to outside questioners.

An adjourned meeting will be held to-day.

The Assembly Committee on Railroads met yesterday afternoon, at the Fifth-avenue Hotel, all the members present. The investigation is to be strictly private, not even the names of the witnesses are to be made public.

It is believed by the Committee that the testimony to be elicited will be of great importance. It is understood that VANDERBILT, FISK and other railroad men are to be examined.

The George T. Trimble Association.

The old pupils of Public School No. 7, Chrystie-street, near Hester, met in the school building yesterday afternoon, and organized themselves into an association known as the George T. Trimble Association. It is named after one of the early Trustees of the school. The object of the organization is to cherish the pleasant memories of school-boy days, and to honor the founders of the Public School Society. It is intended to give a banquet annually, in which all the old pupils will participate. A constitution and by-laws were adopted yesterday, and the following-named gentlemen were elected officers: Jno. V. Harriott, President; Henry W. Dunshee, Nathan P. Beers and Thomas Palmer, Vice-Presidents: Joseph H. Tooker, Recording Secretary; Samuel D. Allison, Corresponding Secretary; Alonzo Slote, Treasurer.

LAW REPORTS.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE.

Before Commissioner Osborn.

ALLEGED MUTINY.

The United States vs. Arthur Campbell, George Alexander and Cornelius Boyle.—The examination of this case was resumed yesterday.

John Wesley Woodard, a colored man, steward of the bark Restless, told the story very much as the Captain did, except that he said that when Campbell refused to work unless the ship were put back to Anguilar, the Captain told Campbell that Alexander was not dead, and had only received a flesh wound.

William Carroll, a seaman on the Restless, was called for the defence. He said the mate was drunk at the time of the row, that he pounded Boyle with an iron belaying pin, and that the second mate assisted with a chain-hook; that Boyle drew the knife after he had received several blows, and told the mate that if he struck him again he should use the knife in self defence; that when Devlin was ironed, Alexander asked to be ironed too; that he did not threaten the Captain, and was only pleading for Devlin, when the Captain shot him; that the Captain had pounded Boyle with the butt of his pistol; that the second mate wanted Campbell shot as well as Alexander; some of the men were under the influence of liquor, but no one was drunk except the mate.

Devlin and Williams, two other sailors, confirmed what Carroll said.

The Commissioner concluded that liquor was at the bottom of the disturbance, and that the officers were certainly as much to blame as the men. He discharged the prisoners.

REVENUE FRAUD.

United States vs. Froud.—Mr. Hess was in Washington yesterday, so that the examination was not spiced with the usual fencing between him and Mr. Sedgwick, Froud's counsel.

Mr. Brand stated that in July and August of 1867 he and Hoyme had a cigar factory in the Eighth District; that he saw 20,000 cigars put up at Hoyme's separate factory in the Fifth District; saw boxes stamped with First District stamps; helped load the cigars on a dray, and afterward saw them at Froud's store, No. 137 Bowery; that he gave Froud a bill for them in his (Brand's) name, because Hoyme was manufacturing in the Fifth District without a license, and was already in trouble with the Government; that Hoyme gave the cigars out to cigar-makers to make, and that these cigar-makers, for all he knew, might reside in the First District.

The case was postponed to Tuesday next.

Before Commissioner Betts.

BOUNTY FRAUDS.

United States vs. Col. Herman.—Herman did not appear yesterday, and the case was postponed to the 6th of April, there being good reason to believe that Herman's friends will pay up all claims by that time.

A large number of the persons having claims against Herman were present, and denounced him in no measured terms. They posted a placard in the building, containing the following notice:

"Soldiers who have been defrauded by J. B. Herman and others, will meet at No. 113 Bowery, on Monday, March 8, at 7:30 P. M."

It is said that fresh warrants were subsequently issued for Herman's rearrest.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—MARCH 5.

Before Chief Justice Barbour and a Jury.

FORCIBLE POSSESSION.

Joachim Arnstein vs. Valentine Bermer.—Plaintiff in this case was the tenant of defendant, from whom he rented a store in Houston-street. When within ten days of the expiration of the term, and while the plaintiff was absent from his store, the defendant entered, and, sending the son of plaintiff after his father, locked the store and took the key, telling plaintiff on his return that "he (plaintiff) had his stepladder, and he (defendant) would keep his key," and did so keep it until the expiration of his term, when he let him have it to take away his property. It appeared in testimony that the season for plaintiff's business was past, and the Court held that if the occupancy of the store was of any importance to him he could have got another key, and charged its expense to defendant. The cause was summed up at length on both sides, and the Court in charging characterized it as "the smallest case he had ever known to occupy a Court and jury," to which charge exception was taken in due form.

At this point the counsel for defendant being about to address the Court, his Honor desired to know if "he too was going to take an exception."

The jury rendered a verdict in favor of defendant for $20.

S. B. Noble for plaintiff; Samuel Hirsch for defendant.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART II.—MARCH 5.

Before Judge Fithian and a Jury.

Jane Tyrrell vs. James O'Brien, Sheriff, &c.—This was on action to recover property of the value of $750, seized by defendant under an execution against the brothers of the plaintiff. The brothers had failed in the carpenter business, and plaintiff who is the wife of one of them, obtained $600 from her father, bought out the business and had it carried on by her brothers in her name. The trial occupied the entire day and ended in a disagreement of the jury, they standing one against eleven. There being no prospect of an agreement they were discharged at half-past five P. M., after having been absent about two hours.

David McAdam and Ex-Recorder Smith for plaintiff; A. J. Vanderpoel for defendant.

COMMON PLEAS—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—MARCH 5.

Before Judge Daly and a Jury.

KITE FLYING.

George G. Byron and Charles T. Jung vs. James E. Grannis.—This action, which occupied the Court and Jury for two days, involved a charge of obtaining by fraud bonds to the amount of $5,000, and arose out of the following circumstances:

Defendant left the bonds on deposit with plaintiffs, who are "petroleum and mining" stock brokers, as a margin for such transactions as defendant might authorize through them. At the end of operations running through nearly a year an account was submitted, whereby defendant appeared to be indebted to plaintiffs in the sum of $3,369 32. This account was understood to be accepted as correct, and defendant paid on account, $2,800, leaving a balance of $569 32 unpaid. At the time of the settlement it was claimed on the part of plaintiffs, that defendant asked them to surrender to him his $5,000 in bonds, and that he would obtain a loan thereon elsewhere, and send them a check for the balance due on their statement. He took the bonds, but failed to send the check, and on demand being made for the return of the bonds, he claimed that on looking over the account he discovered that instead of owing the plaintiffs they were $11 in his debt. Plaintiffs thereupon commenced their action, and obtained an order of arrest. The points contested on the trial of the cause were whether defendant received the bonds with the understanding claimed by plaintiffs; whether he admitted the correctness of the stated account when submitted; and whether, admitting that he did not accept the account as correct, certain commissions for "carrying over" the stock some twenty months were a legitimate and legal charge? The jury found a verdict in favor of plaintiffs for $662 72 and costs.

Robert J. Mitchell for plaintiffs; N. Niles for defendant.

COMMON PLEAS—SPECIAL TERM—MARCH 5.

Before Judge Barrett.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL "POKER" PLAYER.

Hart vs. Corlies.—This was a motion to set aside a judgment taken by default, for irregularity. Plaintiff sued defendant for $1,500, $800 of which was alleged to be borrowed money, and $700 won at "poker" at the Manhattan Club. About the time to answer was expiring, defendant obtained an extension, a copy of which, together with the affidavit on which it was granted, he served on the plaintiff, but neglected to serve in connection therewith, a copy of "Affidavit of Merits." On this omission, judgment was taken by default, to set aside which this motion was made. Although there appeared a general anxiety on the part of those in Court to hear the facts, Judge BARRETT decided that on a motion involving merely a question of irregularity, the Court could not go into the merits. Decision reserved.

DECISIONS.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS—MARCH 5.

By Judge Sutherland.

Hamil vs. Epstein; allowance granted.

Carow, Trustee, &c., vs. Furniss et al.; motion denied without costs.

Moses vs. Davego et al.; report confirmed and order granted.

Martin vs. Sauer; report confirmed and order granted.

Tubbs et al. vs. Lynch et al.; allowance granted.

The Fourth National Bank of New-York vs. Oliver; motion denied without costs, and with leave to renew.

Hans C. G. Kaschaw vs. Rosina Kaschaw; report of referee confirmed, and judgment of divorce granted.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Bedford.

ROBBERY.

Charles Johnson, indicted for robbery, pleaded not guilty. William Ellis swore that on the 23d of February, when he was in the hall of the house No. 40 Baxter-street, he was tripped up, kicked and robbed of $35 and a coat by several persons; he sprang up, pursued the men, and caught Johnson, and had him arrested.

The jury convicted him, and Judge BEDFORD sentenced him to State Prison for twelve years.

BURGLARIES.

Edward Lewis, a man sixty years old, was indicted for burglary in the third degree. It was shown that he forced the lock of the door of Moore & Sherwood's store, No. 42 John-street, and took some twine and penknives. The complainant, Mr. Moore, stated that he had doubts of the prisoner's sanity. Lewis pleaded guilty, and was sent to the Penitentiary for one year.

James Haggerty and John Whitehill were tried on a charge of burglary. Officers Grumen and Patterson heard a noise on the night of the 2d of March in the liquor store No. 37 New-Canal-street, entered and found doors forced open, and the prisoners crouched behind a door. The prisoners pleaded that they had no intent to rob; but they finally pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to State Prison for four years.

LARCENY.

Frank Morris, a carpenter, 28 years old, was seen by Officer Kealy getting out of a hall window of the St. Nicholas Hotel with a bronze clock, which was afterward identified as one belonging in a room in the hotel, and valued at $125. The prisoner professed to know nothing about the matter. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and Morris was sent to State Prison for five years.

POLICE COURTS.

The Tombs—Dowling, Justice.

A WAGON THIEF.

On Thursday afternoon Timothy John Jones, a youth of twenty years, being feloniously inclined, jumped into the wagon of Engelbert Van Lilienthal, standing in front of No. 194 Front-street, and seizing a chest of tea worth $80, and attempted to escape with it. His exploit had, however, been witnessed by a bystander, who seized the thief and held him until Officer Stillwagen, of the Second Precinct, came up. The prisoner, when arraigned, pleaded guilty, and was committed in default of $1,000 bail for trial at the General Sessions.

Essex Market—Shandley, Justice.

BURGLARY IN BAYARD-STREET.

A man giving his name as James Riley was yesterday arraigned befor Justice SHANDLEY, charged with breaking open the door of Christian Johnson, who lives at No. 22 Bayard-street. Riley was charged with intent to steal $50 in money and clothing. He was remanded for examination.

Jefferson Market—Dodge, Justice.

A CASE OF SWINDLING.

On Monday last Adolph Schwed, who had been in the employ of M. Lowry & Co., No. 69 Walker-street, came to the store of F. G. Murphy, & Co., No. 36 Maiden-lane, and presented two orders for goods, which he represented were for the firm of Lowry & Co.; also an order for samples of jewelry with the forged signature of Mr. Lowry, which he affirmed to be genuine. Upon the representations of Schwed, goods were delivered to him by Messrs. Murphy & Co., valued at $175. Since the delivery of the goods Mr. Murphy ascertained that Schwed had been discharged from the employ of the firm which he pretended to represent, some time previous to the transaction, and that the signatures and orders were worthless. Schwed was arraigned before Justice DODGE yesterday, and was remanded for further examination.

ANOTHER CASE OF SWINDLING.

Elizabeth Rogers, who lives at No. 50 West Twenty-fourth-street, yesterday preferred a complaint against W. D. Davis, charging him with swindling her by means of a check for $75 on the National Trust Company of New-York. Davis represented that he had funds in that bank to the amount of $400, and that his check would be paid on presentation. Mrs. Rogers gave him the money and recently ascertained the check to be fraudulent. Justice DODGE committed the offender for further examination.

A FALSE FRIEND.

Oscar V. Mitchell, a recruiting officer of the United States Army, charged Harry Hudson, with coming to his office on Thursday, and stealing from his pocket while he was asleep on the sofa the sum of $56 50. As a portion of the money was found in his possession when he was arrested by Officer Laughlin, of the Eighth Precinct, his Honor committed the prisoner to await trial at the Court of General Sessions, in default of $1,500 bail. Mitchell and Hudson had been living on friendly terms previous to the theft.

A COTTON LARCENY.

Charles Beardsley, employed at No. 97 Broad-street, stated that a bale of cotton, valued at $150, which he had in his charge, belonging to Alfred Eustell and William Jennan, was taken from the barge New-York, at Pier No. 46 North River, on Tuesday evening. He the same evening found the cotton at the bulkhead between Piers Nos. 47 and 48, and a coat was found in the boat which was conveying the cotton. He had the property taken to the Twenty-eighth Precinct Station-house. On Wednesday John Shehan came to the station-house and claimed the property, stating that he had purchased the cotton from a vessel in the Bay. On consideration of the case, his Honor committed Shehan for further examination.

POLICE TRIALS.

Before Commissioner Manierre.

A calendar of twenty-six complaints against policemen was carefully gone through with by Commissioner MANIERRE yesterday. Most of them were for violations of minor rules of the Department, but there were a few cases of considerable interest.

QUEER EXCUSE.

John Burke, patrolman of the Fifth Precinct, was charged with sitting in a doorway about 5 o'clock in the morning, when he should have been patrolling his beat. In palliation of the offence, Burke said he stooped down to get a cup of coffee. The Commissioners approve of the rule of doing one thing at a time, and applying it to patrolmen, impose a fine when they take refreshments while on patrol duty.

"PUT YOURSELF IN HIS PLACE."

Patrolman George S. Skidmore, of the Fifth Precinct, was charged with refusing to arrest a woman charged with larceny. Miss Elizabeth Blauvock, residing at No. 507 Broome-street, testified that while out shopping with a female friend last Thursday, on West Broadway, near Lispenard-street, she handed her muff, inside of which was her purse, containing $10 60, to her companion to hold for a moment. She had scarcely done so when a lady asked her had she dropped her pocket-book. Miss Blauvock at first said no; but siezing her muff, she found it was gone. The stranger said that a colored woman behind them was picking it up. Turning, the ladies saw a colored woman apparently picking up something. They asked the colored woman had she the pocket-book, she said no. The latter went in a grocery. They waited till she came out and followed her into St. John's Lane. Finally they saw Officer Skidmore, and the negro woman hailed him, saying, "These ladies want to make a charge that I have got their pocket-book, and I have not got it." The officer asked the ladies if they saw her pick it up. They said no; that they saw her stooping, as though she picked up something, and also mentioned what the woman in West Broadway had told them. The Commissioner put a few questions to the witness: Did you offer to make a charge against this woman for having your pocket-book? A.—Yes, Sir.

Commissioner Manierre—Did you tell the officer you would go with her? A.—Yes, Sir; he told us he could not arrest her, because we did not see her pick up the pocket-book.

Q.—Did you offer to go with the officer to the Station-house if he would arrest the woman? A.—He did not ask me to go.

Q.—Did you say anything about going? A.—We said we wanted the charge made against the woman.

Q.—Could you make the charge that the woman stole your pocket-book? A.—No; I could not.

In reply to a question from Skidmore, she said he did not ask her if she would go to the Station-house and prefer a charge. She further testified that Skidmore said he could not make a charge against the colored woman unless they brought the person who saw her pick the pocket-book up. It appeared that a gentleman who had watched the proceedings followed the colored woman after she left the ladies and the policeman, and saw her throw away a pocket-book at the corner of Canal and Sullivan streets. He took the pocket-book to Miss Blauvock, and it proved to be one that had been dropped out of the muff in West Broadway.

William H. Corey, a witness brought by the officer, said that the colored woman offered to be searched. This was denied by the other witnesses. Corey advised the officer that he had no right to make the arrest under the circumstances. The ladies were very much excited.

Officer Skidmore, in defence, said he did not make the arrest, because the parties would not prefer a charge; was positive he asked them if they would make a charge; did not say anything to the colored woman; she said she did not have the pocket-book.

A SURGICAL OPERATION.

The other day an officer was charged with talking with a bevy of buxom servant girls, while one of them was playing with his club, and now Patrolman Wm. D. Ferry, of the Twenty-first Precinct, says that the head of his club was too large, and offers as an excuse for being in a carpenter's shop, that he went in to have it sawed off.

A POOR EXCUSE.

John G. White, patrolman of the second platoon of the Fifteenth Precinct, was charged by Sergt. Haggerty with neglecting to notify the storekeepers on his post to look out for counterfeit $50 United States greenbacks during his tour of duty from 5 to 7 o'clock P. M. Feb. 25, in consequence of which neglect the detection and arrest of persons who were trying to pass said counterfeits on his post were prevented. Officer White, with the triumphant air and tone of assured and easy victory over the Sergeant, put the query: "What was the order the Captain gave that night?" A.—"To look out for $50 United States greenbacks." Fully satisfied with this reply, the officer followed it up with, "He did not say to notify the storekeepers?" A.—"That is the way the order is always given." The officer stood vindicated, (in his own view of the case.) Commissioner MANIERRE wishing to bring out the officer's theory of defence in a little stronger light, asked, "Do I understand that you thought you were to look out and not take any $50 counterfeits yourself?" White replied that he thought that was what was meant.

Decisions in all cases were reserved.

HUDSON COUNTY SUPREME COURT.

Before Judge Bedle.

A SEDUCTION CASE.

At the Hudson County Supreme Court, yesterday, before Judge BEDLE, the seduction case of Charles Spangenberg vs. Nester Aymong was called on. The sation for injury sustained by reason of having action was brought by Mr. Spangenberg, who is a tailor, living in Garden-street, Hoboken, for compen- lost the services of his daughter Augusta, who had been seduced, under promise of marriage, by Aymong, who has no ostensible business. There were also several other allegations in the complaint. In the Autumn of 1865 Miss Augusta "lived out" in a family in Hoboken, for the purpose of learning housekeeping. While so employed, in the following Spring, she got acquainted with Mr. Aymong at a butcher's shop. The acquaintance ripened gradually, and at length both became so intimate that he conveyed her home every night from her business place to her father's residence. On every possible occasion he insisted on accompanying her and treated her to all the delicacies the season could afford. She was a pretty little girl nearly 18; he, a tolerably good-looking man, having arrived at majority. During their intimacy he promised marriage, but said there need be no hurry in reference to that matter. At length he finally fixed the Spring of 1868 as the time to get united in the bonds of wedlock; and an infant having been born to Miss Augusta about then, he was asked to keep his engagement, but refused to do so. For this refusal the present action was brought. Only two witnesses were examined when counsel settled the case, the conditions being that Aymong should pay Mr. Spangenberg $500, and contribute all expenses toward the support of the infant boy.

FRIDAY, March 5—P. M.

The announcement this Afternoon of the nomination of Mr. ALEXANDER T. STEWART, of this City, by President GRANT to the Secretaryship of the Treasury was favorably received on the Street and on the Stock Exchange, and in the opinion of some parties is deemed the very ablest as well as most appropriate selection to the New Cabinet. While most of the other Departments are filled by comparatively new names to the public, the Treasury is to be administered by a gentleman whose general intelligence and mercantile experience, united to eminent success in business and tried personal integrity, render his appointment conspicuously "proper to be made." The Public Funds have further advanced, and the price of Gold declined on this announcement and the Cable advices of a further rise in U. S. 5-20s abroad on President GRANT's Inaugural. The 1862s sold here to-day at 119; the old 1865s at 116⅞; the 1864s at 115; the new 1865s at 113⅛, and the 1867s at 113⅛@113¼ ℘ cent. The sales of Gold fell off to 131⅝@131½@131¼@131@130¾ ℘ cent. The Foreign Exchanges were done at 108¾@108½ for 60-day Bills on London, and 109@¼ ℘ cent. for short sight Bills. The offerings in the line of short sight Bills drawn against U. S. Bonds materially influenced the market, and at one time was done to-day at a sixteenth under 109 ℘ cent.

There was an easier tone to the Money market this forenoon, and the Brokers, for the most part, were supplied at Simple 7 ℘ cent. Currency Interest. At the close of the day this was the rule of the Street, on call loan. The relaxation from the closer rates and scarcer supply of yesterday and the day before caused an improvement of ¾@1¼ ℘ cent. on most of the Railway Stocks at the Exchange, but without inducing any very considerable business. The Miscellaneous Shares were steady for Pacific Mail and Mariposa. The Southern State Bonds were firmer and higher for the Louisianas and Missouris and steady for Virginias and Tennessees. A Stock Exchange correspondent sends us the following in regard to one of the recent new issues of North Carolina:

The State of North Carolina has issued two millions of bonds in aid of the Chatham Railroad, and a large portion has been put upon this market. The Courts of that State having pronounced this issue unconstitutional the bonds have been declared not a "good delivery" at the Stock Exchange, which leaves the bonds just where they happened to be when this decision was made. They are not salable, or available as collateral for loans. There can be no question of the legality of the bonds, as they bear the signatures of the Governor and Treasurer as well as the great seal of the State, and it seems to us that the honor as well as credit of the State demands that some action should be taken by the Legislature, now in session, to remedy the wrong that has been done. Just what can be done, under the restrictions of the State Constitution, we do not know, but there must be some way, and we have no doubt but a plan will be suggested and acted upon. It is proper to add that these bonds were issued under advice of the Attorney-General, and two of the five Judges of the Supreme Court were in favor of their constitutionality.

After the late Boards broke up the following quotations were made as compared with Thursday night. The Public Funds closed ¼@⅜ ℘ cent. above the best sales at the Boards. Gold weak after the decline to 130¾@⅝@½. Exchange weak. The Railways not strong. The feeling about Money decidedly better than yesterday.

New Bank Statement Law.

AN ACT REGULATING THE REPORTS OF NATIONAL BANKING ASSOCIATIONS.

Be it enacted, &c., That in lieu of all reports required by section 34 of the National Currency act every association shall make to the Comptroller of the Currency not less than five reports during each and every year, according to the form which may be prescribed by him, verified by the oath or affirmation of the President or Cashier of such association and attested by the signatures of at least three of the directors, which report shall exhibit in detail and under appropriate heads the resources and liabilities of the association at the close of business on any past day to be by him specified, and shall transmit such report to the Comptroller within five days after the receipt of a request or requisition therefor from him; and the report of each association above required, in the same form in which it is made to the Comptroller, shall be published in a newspaper published in the place where such association is established, or if there be no newspaper in the place, then in the one published nearest thereto in the same county, at the expense of the association, and such proof of publication shall be furnished as may be required by the Comptroller. And the Comptroller shall have power to call for special reports from any particular association, whenever, in his judgment, the same shall be necessary, in order to a full and complete knowledge of its condition. Any association failing to make and transmit any such report, shall be subject to a penalty of $100 for each day after five days that such bank shall delay to make and transmit any report as aforesaid, and in case any association shall delay or refuse to pay the penalty herein imposed, when the same shall be assessed by the Comptroller of the Currency, the amount of such penalty may be retained by the Treasurer of the United States upon the order of the Comptroller of the Currency, out of the interest, as it may become due to the association, on the bonds deposited with him to secure circulation. And all sums of money collected for penalties under this section shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That, in addition to said reports, each National banking association shall report to the Comptroller of the Currency the amount of each dividend declared by said association, and the amount of net earnings in excess of said dividends; which report shall be made within ten days after the declaration of each dividend, and attested by the oath of the President or Cashier of said association; and a failure to comply with the provisions of this section shall subject such association to the penalties provided in the foregoing section.

The Abolition of Transit Duties in New-Jersey.

The following act has been passed unanimously by both branches of the New-Jersey Legislature, and signed by Gov. RANDOLPH, abolishing the transit duty:

AN ACT RELATIVE TO TRANSIT DUTIES.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New-Jersey, That from and after the passage of this act all transit duties, whether on passengers or freight, shall be and they are hereby abolished.

2. And be it further enacted, That all companies heretofore paying duties to the State shall hereafter pay each year, in quarterly payments as heretofore, to the Treasurer of this State, a tax of one-half of one per centum upon the costs of their respective works, including all their property of every description not otherwise taxed, until the Legislature shall, by general law, impose a uniform State tax, equally applicable to all railroad and canal corporations of this State, and said companies shall then pay such uniform tax; and until such general law be passed, no company heretofore paying transit duties as aforesaid shall, in any year hereafter, pay a less sum as tax to the State than that paid by it for taxes and duties of all kinds for the year 1868, and said amounts shall be paid by them in equal quarterly payments, and no other tax or impost shall be levied or assessed upon said companies.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall not apply to any corporation having a contract with this State in reference to taxation, unless, within three months from the passage hereof, this act and its provisions be accepted by the Board of Directors of such corporation in place of said contract, and a certificate of such acceptance, under the corporate seal of such corporation, be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, which certificate, or a duly certified copy thereof, shall be plenary evidence of such acceptance, and until the filing as aforesaid of such acceptance, such corporation shall pay as now required by law.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞ THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY'S BONDS are a first mortgage upon one of the longest lines of railroad in the world. The amount will be less than $27,000 per mile. The earnings from local business over a portion of the road last year were over five million dollars, and after its completion early this season, the immense through traffic of the Pacific States will increase this sum to fifteen or twenty millions. The payment of both interest and principal of the bonds in gold is, therefore, perfectly sure.

The present high price of Governments offers a favorable opportunity to sell and to reinvest in a bond equally safe and more valuable on account of the longer period before its maturity. The exchange will now pay a profit of from ten to eighteen per cent. As the issue of these bonds will soon cease, parties who desire to invest are invited to make their subscriptions at once. They will be received at the Company's office, No. 20 Nassau-street, and by JOHN J. CISCO & SON, No. 59 Wall-street, and by banks and bankers generally. A pamphlet, with full particulars, sent free on application.

California Flour is inactive at $6@$8, as extremes, for poor to choice old, and $8@$10 25 for new Extras, ₱ 196 lbs.; sales, 470 sacks. Rye Flour rules dull and heavy at $5 15@$7 15 for very inferior to choice, ₱ bbl.; sales, 325 bbls. Cornmeal is in less demand at $4@$5 for Western; $4 25@$4 35 for Jersey, and $5@$5 10 for Brandywine, ₱ bbl.; sales, 430 bbls. Buckwheat Flour is quite dull at $2 65@$3 25 ₱ 100 lbs.

GRAIN—Wheat has been more freely offered to-day at materially reduced prices. The demand has been fair, mainly for export, at the modified figures. Sales have been reported of 63,000 bushels, including Red Western at $1 60@$1 65; No. 2 Spring at $1 45@$1 49, in store and afloat; and White California at $1 85 ₱ bushel. Corn has been depressed and declining, though, in view of the light receipts, the leading holders have been reluctant to make concessions. Sales have been reported since our last of 43,000 bushels at 94½c.@96½c., chiefly at 95c.@96c. for New Mixed Western; 98c.@$1 for Old Mixed Western, in store, and 86c.@$1 for White and Yellow, according to quality and condition, and 96½c. for weavily cut Old Mixed, ₱ bushel. Rye is dull at about $1 37½@$1 40 ₱ bushel; sales, 4,100 bushels. Barley rules quiet, but steady; sales, 12,000 bushels German, on private terms. Barley Malt continues dull at $2@$2 10 ₱ bushel. Oats are quiet at drooping prices; sales have been reported since our last of 45,000 bushels Western, at 74¼c.@74½c., in store, and 76c.@76½c. afloat, ₱ bushel.

HAY—North River has been in light request at 70c.@75c. for shipping, and $1@$1 25 for poor to choice, for local use, ₱ 100 lbs. Straw is dull at 85c.@$1 15 for long and short, ₱ 100 lbs.

HOPS—Have been in demand and firm, including American at 5c.@12c. for New, and 2c.@5c. for Old, ₱ lb. We quote in detail thus: New-York State, 6c.@12c.; Eastern, 6c.@10c.; Wisconsin, 5c.@10c.; Michigan, 5c.@10c.; Yearlings, all grades, 2c.@5c. ₱ lb. The week's business in this line, Mr. EMMET WELLS notices thus; "Trade was somewhat restricted during the fore part of the week, in consequence of the unfavorable weather, but toward the latter part showed more signs of animation. We report no change in values. Prices rule from 8c. to 10c. for Wisconsins, while Fancy State command a few cents more. Though speculators are not buying heavily, they do not refuse prime lots at going prices. Exports for the week to London, 741 bales. Our London correspondent favors us with the following, under date of Feb. 13: 'Since we last wrote, our market has remained without material alteration. In the American market more disposition to operate is perceptible, but there is no real improvement in demand. Sales now rule from 45s. to 63s. ₱ cwt. Our merchants still move but slowly, being deterred by the fear of excessive imports continuing from your side. Our arrivals from America from the 1st of September, 1868, now reach 27,500 bales, and this, with the heavy stock of Continental and English on hand, will prevent material improvement for some time to come. Fears are strongly entertained here that the excessive rains which have prevailed for the past two months will weaken the plant. Our Winter has been exceedingly mild and wet, and similar seasons have been followed by short crops.' We gather the following valuable statistics from the Kentish Gazette: 'The official agricultural returns show that the acreage devoted to the growth of Hops in England amounted in 1867 to 64,273 acres, and in 1868 to 64,455 acres. Wales, Scotland and Ireland produce no Hops worth mentioning. Twenty years ago land under this fickle crop in England seldom amounted to 50,000 acres. It was then paying an excise duty averaging more than £6 ₱ acre, and competition from foreign Hops was repressed by an import duty of 45s. ₱ cwt. In 1862 the trade in Hops was thrown open. The import of foreign Hops has since increased greatly. Parliamentary returns state that in the last two years before the repeal of the duties, namely, 1860 and 1861, the acreage under Hops was 46,272 acres and 47,941 acres respectively.'"

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

In answer to an inquiry made in the House of Commons, the Marquis of Hartington, Postmaster-General, announced that pending contracts with ocean steamship companies would prevent for the present the adoption of the ocean penny postage system. In the Spanish Cortes on Thursday the Minister of the Interior announced that it was the intention to issue a proclamation of amnesty to political offenders, but that it had been delayed in consequence of recently discovered conspiracies.

Advices from Paraguay, vià Lisbon, are to the effect that President LOPEZ is surrounded by a large army, and is fortifying in the interior. The disaffection among the Allies has led to the resignations of the Marquis DE CAXIAS and Gen. HERVAL, and the supreme command has fallen upon the Brazilian, Gen. DE SAUZA CORREA.

CUBA.

The Cuban Government is advertising for transportation for 315 political prisoners to the island of Fernando Po. Their removal is ordered in consequence of the recent demonstrations against their lives by the volunteers. Their banishment excites much sympathy for them. The insurgents are still very active in the interior, and an engagement is reported to have taken place near Santo Espiritu, in which several rebels were killed and some captured.

CONGRESS.

On the assembling of the Senate yesterday the oath of office was administered to Senator BROWNLOW, of Tennessee, he being too weak to leave his seat. Several petitions were presented, and a number of bills were introduced, but the regular Committees not having been appointed to which to refer them, they were laid on the table. Messrs. GRIMES and CRAGIN were appointed a Committee to inform the President that the Senate was organized for the transaction of business. A recess was then taken to await the return of the Committee. On the return of the Committee Gen. RAWLINGS presented two messages in writing from President GRANT. Thereupon the Senate went into Executive session, and the crowd in the galleries dispersed. When the doors were reopened the Senate immediately adjourned.

When the House assembled, Mr BENJAMIN offered a resolution directing the oath of office to be administered to Messrs. VAN HORN and DYER, of Missouri, and proceeded to advocate it. After some objection on the part of Mr. ELDRIDGE, the resolution was agreed to and the members were sworn in. On motion, Mr. HAMMILL, of Maryland, was also sworn in. Several papers were presented contesting the seats of new members, and after a long debate the credentials were referred to the Committee on Elections, A Committee was appointed to wait on President GRANT. The announcement of the new Cabinet was made from the Clerk's desk, producing no little excitement. A brief recess was taken, after which debate was resumed on the resolution to refer to the Committee on Elections the papers in the Pennsylvania contested election case. The papers were so referred. The House then proceeded to vote for officers, and Mr. MCPHERSON was elected Clerk, and Mr. ORDWAY Sergeant-at-Arms. The members next drew their seats for the coming session, and the House adjourned.

GENERAL.

ELISHA CARPENTER's paper mill in West Milton, Saratoga County, was burnt by an incendiary on Thursday morning. Loss $55,000: insurance $20,000. The works of the Union Iron Company at Newburg, Ohio, were burnt on the night of the same day, involving a loss of $18,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

The Missouri Legislature has passed a bill requiring life insurance companies doing business in that State to deposit $100,000 in the hands of the State Treasurer as security.

The capital stock of the Fourth National Bank of Philadelphia, which suspended on the 23d of February, has entirely disappeared, but the depositors will secure their funds. The charter has been purchased by a new company, which will attempt to reorganize the bank.

The statement that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad has been leased by the Illinois Central is denied by the attorney of the former Company.

A writer in a St. Louis paper complains bitterly of the treatment received by passengers on the Union Pacific Railroad at the hands of the railway officials, while the train was snowed up recently. He brings accusations of extortion and drunkenness, and of an entire absence of any apparent desire to promote the comfort of the passengers.

Four negroes, WILLIAM WILSON, FRANK ROUNDS, WILLIAM WELLS and GEORGE BAILEY, were hanged at Princess Anne, Md., yesterday, for the murder of B. F. JOHNSON and HENRY CANNON, captain and mate of an oyster sloop, in March, 1868. Each prisoner confessed his guilt. ROUNDS and WELLS died instantly; BAILEY in a few seconds; WILSON's neck did not break. He groaned and struggled horribly. He got the rope off of his hands and legs and caught hold of the shroud of ROUNDS and then of his own rope, by which he drew himself up on the scaffold again. The jailor ascended and tightened the noose, and again pushed the wretched man off, jerking the rope violently as he fell. The victim continued to struggle for five minutes, some of the crowd yelling, "That's right, you ought to suffer." The execution occupied forty-five minutes. Toward the last four or five thousand spectators were present.

The Legislative Educational Investigating Committee have concluded their sessions at the Metropolitan Hotel, and stand adjourned. Nothing of public interest has been done.

It is said that the sureties of Mr. THORNE, Ex-Collector of Internal Revenue, who was recently tried in the United States Court at Trenton, and judgment given for $100,000 against him, have commenced criminal proceedings against him, and the suit is to be opened in a few days.

The Legislatures of Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan yesterday ratified the Suffrage amendment to the Constitution.

The Minnesota House of Representatives has passed the bill appropriating 500,000 acres of internal-improvement lands to the payment of the old Railroad bonds of that State.

The officers of the Erie Railway have forbidden their employes at Elmira to permit the Northern Central Railway to use their track through that city, as has been the arrangement heretofore, and the latter is consequently unable to make its connections North. No reasons are assigned for this action.

The Georgia Republican State Convention, called by Hon. FOSTER BLODGETT, was held in Atlanta yesterday, 104 counties being represented. It indorsed Gov. BULLOCK's administration, and requested Congress to reorganize the State Legislature. The reassembling of the Constitutional Convention was also urged in the resolutions adopted. A resolution censuring Gen. MEADE's administration was tabled.

Senator SAULSBURY's physician reports that he is rapidly recovering from the effects of the recent fracture of his leg. The late cold weather has operated very unfavorably on Hon. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS' recent injury, and he is again entirely disabled.

A meeting of Cuban ladies was held yesterday at No. 139 West Twentieth-street, in aid of the Cuban insurgents. It was announced that a fair is shortly to take place under their auspices.

The journeymen book and job printers on strike, held a special meeting yesterday at Botanic Hall, and announced among other contributions toward their aid, a donation of $2,000 from the printers of Albany.

There was skating at most of the rinks in this City yesterday.

Mr. JOHN M. EAGER, a lawyer and an author of some note, was found dead yesterday morning in his room at French's Hotel. He was 48 years of age.

Cotton sold more freely yesterday, chiefly for future delivery, at steady prices. Breadstuffs and Provisions were in light request, as a rule, at a reduced figure. Groceries, irregular and not active. Family Marketing quiet, yet held rather more firmly. Freights, dull and lower.

President Grant's Cabinet.

The Cabinet appointed by Gen. GRANT yesterday took everybody by surprise. Nothing can illustrate more clearly how perfectly GRANT has succeeded in keeping his own counsel than the fact that not one of the names most commonly mentioned for any Cabinet position proved to be the one selected. The Cabinet is eminently and evidently one of the President's own selection. He has appointed the men who compose it, because they suited him,—not because they suited somebody else. They are not taken from the class of prominent politicians of any school or of any party. They are all Republicans of pronounced views, and both active and effective in political affairs; but it is not as politicians that they have made their mark or evinced the qualities that caused their appointment to high office. Yet political experience is by no means wanting in the Cabinet. Several of its members have seen already a good deal of public life, and have vindicated their claim to public confidence by the ability and fidelity with which they have met its responsibilities and performed its duties.

There were many grounds why Mr. WASHBURNE should be appointed Secretary of State besides GRANT's desire to compliment the man who championed him in the early days of his military career, and who sought and secured his promotion from one rank to another till the highest was reached. President GRANT's appreciation of his friend has been expressed in various ways, from time to time, but WASHBURNE owes his present position to GRANT's valuation and measurement of his abilities. His long experience in Congress,—the prominent part he has taken in legislation,—the agreement between his long-cherished ideas and those which GRANT has announced as the leading features of his legislation,—the high character he has always borne as a man and a politician,—his decided "Americanism" on all questions of foreign policy,—were doubtless the grounds on which GRANT made his choice. Since the death of THAD. STEVENS Mr. WASHBURNE has been "Father of the House," and, though he has made enemies by his relentless opposition to all sorts of jobbery, and by a temper at times rather acerb, he has always commanded the highest respect of his fellow-members for integrity and capacity. When first elected to Congress twelve years ago, he served upon the Committee on Commerce, and in the last Congress he was Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations,—this Committee being the most important in Congress, and the position being one which properly gave him the leadership. In his place, during last session, he has been the special champion of retrenchment, economy and reform in all branches of the public service. We have no doubt that he will conduct the special department to which he has now been appointed with prudence and sagacity, and that he will bring to the discussion of international questions temperance and a pacific spirit. It has been understood for months past, that Mr. WASHBURNE would prefer an appointment as Minister to France, and already there are reports from Washington that it is not probable he will desire to retain his present Department for a great length of time. However this may be, the foreign policy of GRANT, with WASHBURNE as Secretary of State, will assuredly be independent, straightforward and thoroughly American.

Mr. STEWART's first appearance as a statesman is in a position of the very highest importance and responsibility,—a position requiring great abilities and involving immense labor. It falls especially upon the Secretary of the Treasury to carry out the great principles of administration which GRANT has already set forth—retrenchment, economy, faithful collection of the revenue, and payment of the public debt. Each and all of these appertain directly to the conduct of his Department. It is from failure in regard to these that corruption has overtaken the public service, that our credit has remained disgracefully low, that the debt has been enlarged, the public burdens increased, and all the worst evils of the civil service multiplied in number and volume. To correct the flagrant abuses which are working out public ruin, is what GRANT and the country will require of Secretary STEWART. The fact that he has come to the place without experience in political life, may not be to the detriment of his administration. He certainly has had an experience in the management of business affairs larger than those of any other man in America. He has built up and established a business whose operations almost rival those of the Department he now controls,—a business involving hundreds of millions per annum, and employing thousands of subordinate agents—a business requiring the application of large principles as well as the knowledge of minutest details—a business that has been conducted with a success expressed by the largest fortune ever accumulated by any man on this continent. There need be no fear that he will not bring to the conduct of his Department a thorough knowledge of its affairs, or a determination to apply and enforce the most rigid principles of economy and integrity to its management.

The selection of Gen. J. D. COX as Secretary of the Interior is doubtless due to a combination of various causes. First, he is from Ohio, one of the three largest States, and hence deserving representation in the Cabinet, and more fittingly receiving it in the "Interior" than in the "Treasury" or "Navy," like the Atlantic States of New-York and Pennsylvania. Next, he is a man of tried integrity and honesty—qualities specially needed in the Interior Department, on account of its bad historic odor in connection with "Indian rings." Finally, as an army officer—the distinguished commander of the Twenty-third Corps—who served under GRANT and SHERMAN, and was well known to them, he can be relied upon to manage Indian affairs on the army theory, which is the one advocated by Gen. GRANT. The Senate has declined, or postponed, the transfer of the Indian Bureau from the Interior to the War Department. GRANT checkmates any possible difficulty from this source by appointing Gen. COX to the Interior Department. It so happens that Gen. COX was emphatically the "right-hand" man of Gen. SCHOFIELD, both at Franklin, in the memorable Tennessee campaign of 1864, which ended at Nashville, and afterward in SCHOFIELD's North Carolina campaign of 1865, from Newbern and Wilmington up to Goldsboro'. If, therefore, Indian affairs cannot be put in charge of Gen. SCHOFIELD, as Secretary of War, there is very little practical difference when they are left in charge of Gen. COX as Secretary of the Interior. This, we presume, may "account for the milk in that cocoanut."

Judge HOAR, whom President GRANT has appointed Attorney-General in his Cabinet, is a man universally known and honored in Massachusetts, not only for his extraordinary legal abilities, which are of the very first order, but for his noble lineage, his spotless private character, his perfect integrity, his wide range of learning, his wit and wisdom and his fine social qualities. We believe it was of him that LOWELL wrote that his head contained more wit and shrewd common sense "than there are mosses on an old stone fence." He ought by right, according to the opinion of most people, to have been advanced to the Chief Justiceship on the Supreme Bench of Massachusetts, (of which he is the chief ornament,) on the retirement of Chief Justice BIGELOW. But a political, personal, and local quarrel caused him to be overthrown for the time, and he remained an Associate Judge as before. Of powerful and original mind, rare candor and common sense, high social culture and polish, and with a modesty as remarkable as all, he will add dignity and strength to the Cabinet in his position. His legal abilities are of the very highest order. He has hitherto taken no prominent part in politics, but is a sound and genuine Republican.

The other members of the Cabinet,—the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Postmaster-General, will doubtless prove that they are the right men for the places. As regards Secretary SCHOFIELD, he is very properly continued in the War Department. In the year he has held the place, he has proved himself a most competent administrator, of unquestioned integrity and temperate in his political views. Secretary BORIE, of the Navy Department, is like Mr. STEWART of this City, a successful business man, not prominent heretofore in politics, but respected in Philadelphia for character and ability. The Postmaster-General (Mr. CRESSWELL) must be taken, we suppose, as the representative of the "loyal Southern element," from which we have lately had such vigorous demands for representation in the Cabinet. He has been a member of Congress (both the Senate and the House) from Maryland, has always been thoroughly loyal to the Union, and we should judge that he will be found efficient at the head of the Post-Office Department.

The Cabinet as a whole will not commend itself to the favor of politicians, because it has not been taken from their ranks; nor are the men who compose it sufficiently well known to the public at large to command in advance the full confidence of the community. But in the very freshness of its character, in the fact that its members are business men rather than politicians, and are likely to make the practical interests of the country their first care, we see ground for believing that the Cabinet will, by its practical working, vindicate the wisdom of its selection.

Opening Fire on Gen. Grant.

If we may believe the World of yesterday, Gen. GRANT is remarkable for "confidence and self-sufficiency." He is declared to be more presumptuous than WASHINGTON, ADAMS, JEFFERSON, MADISON or MONROE, because, while avowing his sense of the responsibilities of his position, he ventures to "accept them without fear." His address is characterized as "empty," offensive in its "self-assertion," yet "really very servile." The entire document is assailed as proof of unfitness for his position, and of a character in which conceit and subserviency are about equally mixed.

Five days ago the World had a different estimate of Gen. GRANT's character. It then represented him as modest, self-reliant and sensible under the influence of extraordinary temptations,—as indicating, in fact, "great solidity of character and an inborn sense of dignity." Our contemporary said:

> "His character is surely cast in no common mold. He has undergone the severest trial to which character can be subjected—unlooked for prosperity, and sudden, giddy elevation—and he has stood the test in a manner which would have done no discredit to any man that has ever lived. His head has never been turned by his wonderful fortune; he has exhibited no levity, no foolish vanity, none of the airs of an upstart, none of the besetting weaknesses of a parvenu; but has borne himself with a quiet and becoming reserve which, under the circumstances, betokens great solidity of character and an inborn sense of dignity."

From the World's low opinion of yesterday we appeal to its high opinion of Monday. The best answer to the personal attack from that quarter is the testimony which emanated from it before Gen. GRANT indicated the policy of his administration.

But Gen. GRANT "does not intend to have any serious differences with the Republican Party." That is the difficulty with the World. It disclaimed every expectation of direct help for the Democracy from his administration, but cherished hopes of quarrel with some portion of the Republican Party. These hopes the Inaugural has dispelled. Its language shows Gen. GRANT still occupying the ground on which he was elected, and because this ground happens to be identical with the general principles and purposes of Republicans, he is scolded for his "servility."

"All his independence," we are told, "is exhausted in the mere empty proclamation of it." Why? In what portion of the address is there a trace of faithlessness to its author's convictions or his duty as President? But, forsooth, "he has not had the real independence to differ from his party on any particular." What then? Does independence consist in difference without cause? Was it to be supposed that one whose conduct "betokens great solidity of character and an inborn sense of dignity" would falsify his own principles and predilections in order that by quarreling with the Republican party he might exhibit his independence?

The attack of the World, unreasonable as it is, illustrates the kind of criticism to which the new President will be subjected. His opponents are on the look-out for small faults of literary style, or for the slightest departure from old rules of action. They will assail him because he does not aspire to be original or profound in political philosophy, and because his ethics lend no favor to treachery or tergiversation. The country is prepared to interpret both his words and his conduct in a different spirit. It sees already that he bears no resemblance to ANDREW JOHNSON. It draws a proper distinction between a consistent adherence to the principles and aims of the party that elected him and abject obedience to partisan behests. Above all, it recognizes in his large patriotism and distinguished services evidence of honest devotion to duty, in the generosity of his character a guarantee against intolerance or proscription, and in the general tone of his address the precursor of a policy in which sound common sense, practical ability and undeviating rectitude will largely preponderate.

Financial Policy of the New Administration.

The practical wisdom of the policy indicated by Gen. GRANT is in nothing more conspicuous than in the allusions he has made to the public debt and the resumption of specie payments.

The maintenance unsullied of the national credit is an object about which Gen. GRANT has left no room for misinterpretation. He holds it up as one of the great duties which his Administration will constantly endeavor to fulfill. Without being unmindful of the burdens it entails, he keeps before him the fact that honorable relief can only come from the reduction of interest, to which unbroken faith is an essential preliminary.

It is evident, however, that while pronounced in his opinions as to the duty of the debtor to the creditor, Gen. GRANT has no idea of increasing the taxpayers' load for the mere sake of paying off debt before maturity. It is enough that the country pay every dollar as it becomes due, and pay it in the hard currency of the world. Measures of preparation are needed, of course, but their aim should be to strengthen the ability of the Government by fostering national prosperity, rather than to prolong exhaustive taxation simply to pay obligations in advance. Judging him by his words, Gen. GRANT does not believe in the feasibility or expediency of casting the whole burden upon the present year, or any year short of the maturity of the bonds; and by that time he anticipates an enlarged development of resources that will render the task comparatively light.

The same good sense appears in his incidental allusions to specie payments. The desirableness of the object is conceded; the necessity of preparing for it by doing what can be done to impart health to trade and fixedness to finance is conceded; but not a syllable is uttered that can encourage the quackery of attempting to effect resumption by legislation. Time and careful management, with ordinary national growth, will gradually restore the currency to a healthy basis; and on these agencies, more than on legislative enactments, the President evidently relies.

In these respects he is in harmony with the main body of intelligent business and financial opinion throughout the country. The people are afraid of haste in the matter. They dread the contraction which the legislative resumptionists desire to enforce. And they have abiding confidence in their own ability to grow up to the standard at which resumption shall be practicable, without injury to trade or injustice to the debtor class.

The War in South America—The Results of the Allied "Victory."

We are now in receipt of considerably later intelligence from the seat of war in Paraguay, and it is scarcely necessary to state that the great Brazilian victory, of which we heard so much by the last mail turns out to have been exactly like all the other great Brazilian victories that have preceded it. It is true, doubtless, that the Paraguayan losses during the recent engagements were enormous in proportion to numbers of their forces; but, then, those of the Allies were scarcely less so. And we now find that instead of being a fugitive, accompanied only by a few demoralized stragglers, LOPEZ is still at the head of an army, and is fortifying himself in the interior. After their lavish expenditure of men and money, the Allies find themselves as far from attaining their object as ever. Their costly fleet of iron-clads, to which so much of their previous success has been due, is now useless. The campaign has to be commenced anew on a totally different basis. Practically, beyond killing a certain number of Paraguayans, the Allies have done nothing whatever toward the subjugation of Paraguay and the deposition of LOPEZ during the two years of the war. The Brazilians, at least, avow that nothing short of these two objects will satisfy them, and their allies of the Argentine Republic seem to have been easily induced to resume their old place as catspaws for their powerful neighbors. But it must be evident now to the most obstinate as well as to the most sanguine among the Allies that nothing short of the extermination of the Paraguayan race can secure for them the objects at which they aim.

Under these circumstances, it is not surprising to be told that the dissensions in the Allied army have culminated in the resignation of both the Brazilian and Argentine Generals. The Marquis DE CAXIAS, who has certainly shown both valor and determination in his efforts to accomplish his never-ending task, is succeeded in the supreme command by another Brazilian officer. It is no wonder that two years of fruitless losses and hardships should have ended in mutual recriminations between the Allied commanders. But the simultaneous resignation of the two Generals seems to have proved a particularly injudicious case of changing horses while crossing the stream. While they were quarreling LOPEZ was fortifying himself, far away from iron-clads, and in the interior of his own country.

Nothing in the history of modern warfare is more remarkable than the extraordinary and almost unparalleled devotion to LOPEZ displayed by the Paraguayans. That singular race, isolated from their neighbors by traditionary restrictions, accustomed to self-sacrifice by the austerity of their Jesuit training, and proud of their comparatively pure nationality as contrasted with the heterogeneous mixture of races to be found in the ranks of their opponents, regard their President-General with something little short of religious awe, and receive his orders, civil or military, in a spirit of unquestioning obedience. Whatever faults or deeds of cruelty may be urged against LOPEZ, it is impossible to maintain that he rules by mere arbitrary power or terrorism. No personal Government based on such a foundation could have stood the strain to which that of LOPEZ has been subjected.

It is to be hoped that the time for mediation cannot be far off. The Allies must now see the impossibility of achieving their object without simply destroying the Paraguayan race from off the face of the earth. And even supposing they are prepared to attempt and able to accomplish this, the blood and treasure which they would have to expend would be utterly out of proportion to the stake at issue. Their honor must be satisfied by the material triumphs they have gained in the face of the most heroic resistance, and we cannot help believing that judicious joint diplomatic action on the part of any two or three Powers might put an end to a most sanguinary and uncalled-for struggle.

Supervisor Dutcher and the Internal Revenue—The Whisky Tax.

A paragraph that appeared, through inadvertence, in our columns yesterday morning, is calculated to do great injustice to Supervisor DUTCHER, of the Internal Revenue Department in this and Kings Counties, and to create a false impression as to the manner in which his duties are performed. It is, we believe, true, that in both those counties there is not now a single distillery in operation; but it is because he compels them to pay the tax rather than from any complaints or threats of black-mailers. We heartily approve the course he has taken, believing it to be thoroughly in the public interest and conducive to the public good. It is not very important that whisky should be distilled in large quantities, either in New-York or Brooklyn; but it is important that for every gallon that is distilled the tax imposed by law should be paid. This requirement Mr. DUTCHER has enforced. and if under such a rule the distillers choose to abandon the business, very well. That is their affair, not his. Distillers need have no fear of black-mailers if they are doing an honest business. We have in both this City and Brooklyn United States Judges and District-Attorneys who will deal quite as summarily with this class of knaves and scoundrels as with any others; and we have at Washington a President, a Secretary of the Treasury, a Commissioner of Internal Revenue and an Attorney-General from whom this class of offenders has nothing to expect or hope in the way of favor or indulgence. We trust Supervisor DUTCHER will go on in the earnest, vigorous and faithful discharge of his duty, and that he will meet the same success hereafter as he has met hitherto. And we only regret that anything should have appeared in our columns to render necessary this repetition of the faith we have more than once expressed in his official fidelity and efficiency.

The Cuban Revolution and the Sugar Question.

For the last month, i. e., since the rise in sugar began, every importer has been telling the complaining dealers that it is "all on account of the revolution in Cuba;" every grocer, in turn, has been telling his complaining customers the same story; every pater familias has, in his turn, laid it before the breakfast-table, and sternly demanded domestic economy. And thus it happens, probably, that no similar event in foreign history for half a century has been so generally known, by all classes of our citizens, as this same revolt in Cuba. "The Influence of Sugar on the Study of Foreign History" is a subject we would suggest to some lecturer, or debating club, or to some Commencement orator next Summer.

Unfortunately, the "influence of sugar on war" is still more potent just now, we fear, than its influence on the spread of historic information. Sugar is King in Cuba, as Cotton was King in the South. The uprising in Cuban patriotism was immediately followed by an uprising in Cuban sugar; and what we fear is that the whole matter may be guided if not wholly controlled, in the interests of sugar speculation. The monopolists are determined to make a fortune out of it, and are forcing us to realize in our grocer's bills the "price of liberty" the Cuban patriots pay. Sugar in habitual quantity has already gone up out of the reach of the poor, and will soon be almost beyond that of the middling classes. The 1st of April, at this rate, will probably see it doubled from its price a month ago.

It is very clear, therefore, that it is for the pecuniary interest of many people to have the revolution go on, and to keep the "ever-faithful" isle in a continual turmoil. Speculators are preparing "sugar corners" as others during our war arranged the famous "cotton corners;" whether they or any of them will go to the length of furnishing men and money to the revolt, not only pushing "resolutions of sympathy" through Congress, but furtively fitting out armaments and secretly sending munitions, is a serious question. In this view even sugar may become a "sinew of war." But the trouble is that it is not for the interest of great sugar speculators even to have the insurrection promptly succeed; they would have it neither succeed nor fail, but just kept alive, going far, but not too far; in short, their interest is to turn the insurrection into a speculation, the question of "patriotism" into one of pocket, and the war into a gigantic job.

This, we admit, is not a "soaring" view to take of the "patriotic movement;" but sugar will do all the "soaring" necessary, we think, on this subject, for some time to come. Were there a well-grounded hope that the present revolt could come promptly to a happy issue, and that it would leave Cuba not only free, but far happier than under the dominion of Spain, the philanthropist might haply sweeten his tea with the airy fancy of Cuban freedom,—as many spoonfuls to the cup as the beverage demands. But, what with the partial, sporadic and fitful nature of the revolt; what with the conviction that it springs from the disturbed condition of Spain, as an opportunity, rather than from any special grievance as a cause; what with the prospects of a Liberal, if not Republican, Government at Madrid, even the philanthropist finds it hard to sip on sweets so unsubstantial as Cuban prospects.

Meanwhile, we may accept it as certain that the rise in sugar is out of just proportion to the "rise" in Cuba, and that the speculators have outstripped the insurgents.

MINOR TOPICS.

GRANT's Cabinet has been made up with reference to such simple yet vital elements of character as integrity and ability. Mr. STEWART is the most successful business man in the country, and his effective management of his own immense and complicated interests gives proof of the rarest order of practical ability. Mr. WASHBURNE has long been known as one of the few men in Congress who unite great working capacity with unstained personal honor. Gen. SCHOFIELD's past administration of his Department furnishes his best evidence of fitness for the place. Mr. BORIE has shown himself to be a first-class man of business. Mr. HOAR is regarded in Massachusetts as the ablest jurist in the State. Mr. CRESSWELL is a clear-headed, sound-minded, capable man, who has done service in both branches of Congress. Mr. COX was an able commander, an able State administrator, and, like the others, a man of high character. It seems, on the whole, to be a good working Cabinet,—none of the members of which, except Mr. WASHBURNE, have heretofore been very prominent in the field of National politics. We look to it for administrative ability and honesty—which are the things now preëminently needed in the Government.

How dreadfully MCCLURE, of Pennsylvania, must feel about the Cabinet appointment GRANT has made from that State!

There is yet hope for the politicians who have been disappointed, or who are displeased. In a speech recently made by Gen. GRANT, when his election was officially announced to him, he said, in speaking of his assistants in the Administration of the Government:

> "If I should fail in my first choice, I shall not at any time hesitate to make a second, or even a third trial, with the concurrence of the Senate, who have the con[illegible] my own appointees as the appointee of my predecessor. It would make no difference."

There is not the slightest doubt that President GRANT will follow the course here indicated, and therefore X, Y, Z may yet take the places of A, B, C in the Cabinet.

President GRANT has simply done what it was known he would do, and what he was bound to do, in nominating SHERMAN for the Generalship of the army, just vacated, and SHERIDAN for the Lieutenant-Generalcy. Their past services designated them, and they had no rivals.

In advance of the nomination of Mr. DELANO, of Ohio, as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, we approved his appointment. It is one which cannot fail to increase the efficiency, and secure the absolute integrity, of that most important branch of the public service.

What is history worth? The correspondents of all the papers differ even about the details of the clothes GRANT wore at his inauguration. They differ about his small-clothes, his gloves, his shirt-buttons and the cut of his coat. If such points cannot be accurately settled and precisely stated, how shall we give credence to reports about weightier matters?

In the extraordinary harangue which Mr. MCCLURE, of Philadelphia, delivered at Gen. GRANT a few days ago, he said:

> "I venture to appeal to you not to give place in the Cabinet to any one of the class of men understood to be embraced in the list from which it is stated you will make your selection. I mean men of the type of GEO. H. STUART and Mr. BORIE. I beg of you not to make the appointment from that class of men. They have no sympathy whatever with the active Republicans of the State. They have no knowledge of our people, and the appointment of any of them and the dispensing of the patronage of the State by them would cause the utter ruin of the party in the coming canvass. I again appeal to you not to appoint a man of this class."

Is it not terrible to think that in face of these appeals, President GRANT has actually appointed to a place in the Cabinet one of the very men whom Mr. MCCLURE told him must be excluded!

What was the color of the gloves worn by GRANT at his inauguration? The correspondent of the Herald says he wore corn-colored kid gloves; the correspondent of the World says he wore canary-colored kid gloves; the correspondent of the TIMES says he wore straw-colored kid gloves; the correspondent of the Tribune gives no information on the point—probably because the new constitutional amendment forbids all discriminations of color. But we demand a settlement of the question. It is true there is not a great deal of difference between corn, canary and straw; but there is a difference, and we demand the actual, positive and precise fact. We demand the exact shade. We demand it in the name of history, which will not believe anything in the newspapers, if they are found to be incorrect in a small matter like this. We had an interminable dispute about the "long cloak and Scotch cap" which President LINCOLN was said to have worn on a certain memorable occasion. To save future trouble about GRANT's inauguration costume, we beg the correspondent to investigate the point at once, and make a joint report, indorsed by GRANT himself.

President GRANT, by his emphatic inaugural address and his principal Cabinet appointments, has already materially strengthened the public credit in the money markets at home and abroad. United States Securities sold very freely yesterday at advanced and buoyant prices. United States Five-twenties of 1862 closed at 119½ here, and 83½ in London,—the highest figures thus far made on this popular loan. Gold left off heavily at 130½. Exchange weak. Money comparatively easy.

How dreadfully the "Indian ring" must feel about the appointment GRANT has made for Secretary of the Interior!

The World says that at his inauguration, GRANT had on a "shirt pierced by three spiral small-nobbed gold studs;" but the Herald says that "not a single ornament of jewelry appeared about his person, not even gold shirt buttons," and "upon his shirt-bosom, nothing glittered brighter than agate buttons." Now, how do these correspondents make their accounts agree, and which of them is to be credited by the historian of the great occasion?

Quarter-day with the National Banks will be no longer a source of grave periodical disturbance and embarrassment to the business interests of the country. Under the "Act regulating the Reports of National Banking Associations," which was one of the last measures enacted by the Fortieth Congress, and approved by the President, the Comptroller of the Currency is empowered to call for not less than five general, as also for special statements of the business of the national banking institutions, at the close of business on any past day which he may designate. The enforcement of this law will preclude all manipulations of the money market in the interest of the banks desirous of making a strong exhibit; will prevent all "doctoring" of statements for special purposes, and will protect the financial and commercial public from the hardships of sudden contraction, such as has been the usual preliminary to former quarter-day returns to the Currency Bureau, under the old provisions of the Banking act.

These days of nipping air make the passengers on the Hoboken ferry-boats eager for that comfort which can be obtained by properly-warmed cabins. Of this they are shamefully bereft through the neglect of the Company to supply sufficient steam for the warming-pipes. The trip across the Hudson is not quite so severe, perhaps, as a voyage to the Arctic regions, but it is far more rigorous than it ought to be. The ferry has been greatly improved of late in its buildings and its boats, and only needs thoroughly warmed and ventilated cabins to make it a first-class institution of its kind.

Twice during the past week a fire has broken out in Public School No. 27, in Forty-second-street. The coolness and decision manifested by the teachers prevented a panic among the children, and so what might otherwise have been a great calamity was avoided. The danger in both instances arose from a defect in the flues. The possibility of a risk of this sort ought not to have been a second time permitted. If the flues of the building are not in good order, the school should be closed until everything is made perfectly safe.

Musical.

Mr. RITTER's series of historical concerts commence to-day. They are full of interest;—pleasing the ear, as ancient music does, and instructing the intelligence. The artists are Mme RAYMOND RITTER and Mr. S. B. MILLS. The matinée takes place at 2:30, and we hope to see Steinway Hall crowded.

Mr. V. W. CAULFIELD, organist of St. Ann's (Dr. SCHENCK's) Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, will preside at the Plymouth Church organ-concert (Brooklyn) day, fro to 5 o'clock.

National Academy of Design.

The second Winter exhibition of the Academy, which includes that of the Water Color Society, will close at 10 o'clock this evening. It has been a very successful [illegible] interesting exhibition.

Banishment of Political Prisoners—Later News from the Insurgents.

HAVANA, Thursday, March 4.

The Treasury Department advertises for proposals from shipowners to furnish transportation for 315 political prisoners, who are to be taken to the penal station at Fernando Po. There is a profound feeling of sorrow among the friends and relatives of the prisoners, many of whom belong to the first families of the island; but the measure is excusable when it is considered their transportation will save them from dangers like those by which they were threatened on Sunday last, when the volunteers demanded their deaths. Gen. DULCE has ordered their removal in consequence of the intense pressure which is brought to bear upon him by the ultra-Spaniards. It is confidently expected, however, that the Home Government will authorize the release of the majority of them soon after their arrival at Fernando Po.

The United States survey steamer Bibb, with Prof. AGASSIZ on board, sailed to-day for Key West.

The Diario has the following news from the interior:

In the Eastern Department the insurgents, in considerable numbers, have concentrated at the town of Mayri. Troops have marched from Santiago de Cuba to disperse them.

In the Central Department an engagement took place between the Government forces and the insurgents near Santa Espiritu. Nineteen of the rebels were taken prisoners, twelve killed and many wounded. The Government loss is not given.

Large numbers of the insurgents are reported in the vicinity of Cienfuegos and Palmillos. The roads are blockaded by them and no sugar is coming in at Cienfuegos.

All loyal citizens in the Sagua District have been compelled to abandon their houses in consequence of the depredations of the insurgents.

HAVANA, Thursday, March 4,
viâ LAKE CITY, Fla., Friday, March 5.

Late advices from Remedios state that the number of insurgents in that region is rapidly increasing. The prospects are gloomy for the future.

The weather is unfavorable for sugar grinding.

From Cienfuegos and vicinity the news is more favorable to the Government.

At Santiago de Cuba the cholera was abating.

There were several bands of insurgents operating in that district.

GREAT BRITAIN.

President Grant's Inaugural Eulogized in Paris.

LONDON, Friday, March 5.

English and French journals warmly eulogize Gen. GRANT'S Inaugural Address, and agues that the paragraph on foreign policy indicates peace.

In the House of Commons this evening Mr. HADFIELD asked if the Government intended to take any steps in the direction of ocean penny postage.

The Marquis of Hartington, the Postmaster-General, replied that for the present the contracts entered into between the Post Office Department and the various Atlantic Steamship Companies, would interfere with the proposed modifications in the rates of ocean postage.

The Liberté publishes a report of the death of the Pope, but it is discredited.

SPAIN.

Amnesty to be Offered to Political Offenders.

MADRID, Friday, March 5.

In reply to an inquiry of Señor CASTELLAR in the Cortes yesterday, Señor SAGOSTA, the Minister of the Interior, said that the Government had prepared and intended to issue a proclamation of amnesty for all political offences, but its promulgation was postponed on account of the recent conspiracies which had been discovered.

FRANCE.

The Bank of France.

PARIS, Friday, March 5.

The regular weekly statement of the condition of the Bank of France is made public today. The amount of bullion in vault has increased 1,000,000 of francs since last Friday.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Position and Prospects of President Lopez.

LISBON, Friday, March 5.

The regular mail steamer from Rio Janeiro has arrived here, bringing later dates from the scene of war in Paraguay. The news is quite important. President LOPEZ had an army with him and was fortifying in the interior of the country. The dissensions among the allied generals had culminated in the resignation of the Marquis DE CAXIAS and Gen. HERVAL. The supreme command of the allied forces had been conferred on the Brazilian General DE SOUZA CORREA.

MEXICO.

Outrage Upon an American Citizen—Discouraging Accounts From the Interior.

SAN FRANCISCO, Friday, March 5.

Mazatlan advices to Feb. 10 state that two Mexican soldiers and a local Judge attacked an American named HOLDERNESS, and seriously wounded him. The assault was unprovoked. There was great difficulty in procuring the arrest of the parties concerned in the outrage, and there is no hope of their conviction.

Heavy failures have occurred in Guadalajara, by which the merchants of Mazatlan lose over $80,000.

All is quiet at Tepic.

The intelligence from the interior is anything but encouraging. ESCOBEDO desires to resign the command of the First Division of the Mexican army. ROCHA is spoken of as his successor.

The Union Pacific Railroad—Serious Complaints Against the Railway Officials.

ST. LOUIS, Thursday, March 4.

The Evening Dispatch publishes an account of the trials and sufferings of a party of gentlemen who recently came over the Union Pacific Railroad. The account is given by one of a party which included many prominent gentlemen from California and New-York and other Eastern States. He says they were detained ten days at a railway station, and could not induce the railway officials to send a train out until they held an indignation meeting and telegraphed to the Railroad Committee at Washington about the treatment they were receiving. When they did start they were compelled to shovel snow at different points, and were very badly fed. At one point they shoveled through a snow drift one thousand feet long. When they had the track clear the engineer had only steam enough to carry them into the depth of a drift. In consequence of too much whisky drank by the officers of the trains they were stuck again. After remaining two days in this condition, about fifty persons started on foot for Laramie, ninety miles distant, reaching there in four days after much suffering. From Laramie they came through to Omaha without detention. They complain bitterly of the treatment they received at the hands of the railway officials, whom they charge with repeatedly making misstatements to them, and who would entertain no proposition to pay the extra expenses incurred by the passengers. They also say that exorbitant prices were charged them for provisions. Over two hundred persons were on the train when it was left in the snow.

The Philadelphia Fourth National Bank.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, March 5.

The Commercial List says: The Government Examiner appointed to examine the affairs of the Fourth National Bank, which suspended on the 23d ult., reports that its whole capital stock of $250,000 has disappeared, but the depositors will secure all their money. The defaulting cashier has vanished on learning that a warrant is out for his arrest.

The charter of the institution has been purchased by a number of Philadelphia gentlemen, headed by JOHN AUSTIN, late President of the Southwick National Bank, who have subscribed the new capital and will attempt to reorganize the concern.

GEORGIA.

Republican State Convention—Congress Asked to Reorganize the State Legislature.

ATLANTA, Ga., Friday, March 5.

At the State Republican Convention held here to-day, 104 counties were represented by 238 delegates—201 whites and 37 colored. The Convention was called to order by FOSTER BLODGETT, Chairman of the State Committee. Judge DUNNING, of Atlanta, was appointed temporary President, and BENJAMIN CONLEY, President of the State Senate, was elected permanent President. The Convention was very harmonious. A preamble and resolutions were adopted setting forth the failure to comply with the Reconstruction acts in the organization of the Legislature and requesting Congress to reorganize the Legislature, reseat the colored members, and establish a loyal Government.

The Convention unanimously indorsed the course of Gov. BULLOCK and the inaugural address of President GRANT, and appointed a committee to proceed to Washington.

The resolution adopted denounces the Legislature for the expulsion of colored members, which is termed a violation of the Constitution of the State and the principles of the Reconstruction laws, recommend the reassembling of the Constitutional Convention, propose the exclusion of certain parties engaged in the rebellion, whom they claim to be ineligible under the Fourteenth Amendment, and to substitute in their places the ejected negro members, and demand the enfranchisement of the colored race.

A resolution denouncing Gen. MEADE'S administration was tabled.

RAILROAD WAR.

Difficulty Between the Erie and Northern Central Railroad.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Friday, March 5.

What looks like a pretty serious war has broken out between the Erie and Northern Central Railways. The Northern Central uses the Erie track through and on each side of this city. Last evening orders were received by Division Superintendent PRATT, of the Erie, to allow no trains of the Northern Central to come on to the Erie track, thus cutting off the Northern Central from its connections North. The switches were accordingly spiked, and all passage of the Northern Central trains stopped in either direction. No reasons were assigned for this extraordinary procedure, and the railroad men here are as much in the dark as to the cause of the difficulty as anybody else. It is surmised that the trouble grows out of a hitch between the two companies about the possession of the Fort Wayne Road as a connection to Chicago. The difficulty still continues, and no trains are passing on the Northern Central. The injunction was granted this afternoon to prevent the Erie from obstructing the passage of the Northern Central trains, but as yet no change has occurred in the situation. Leading officers and directors of the two roads have been in consultation this afternoon to effect a settlement. A train on the Northern Central, with four hundred passengers from Washington, arrived at the break this afternoon, about a mile below the city, but could go no further. They were obliged to take the Erie train, repay their fare and get home by such roundabout routes as were open to them. The traveling public is suffering very great inconvenience.

The Missouri Legislature—The Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Friday, March 5.

The Missouri Legislature has passed the Insurance bill. It provides that each Life Insurance Company doing business in this State shall deposit $100,000, in State bonds, in the hands of the State Treasurer as security.

A bill has passed the Legislature authorizing the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad to increase stock to an amount not exceeding the cash capital of the road, which will enable the road to pay off its indebtedness to the State, and procure a release of the State lien on the road.

GEORGE N. STEWART, attorney of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, writes to a St. Louis merchant denying that there is any truth in the statement that the Illinois Central Railroad has leased or otherwise obtained control of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

A national salute was fired yesterday afternoon in honor of President GRANT'S inauguration. The President's inaugural message met the hearty indorsement of Republicans generally.

Adjournment of the Louisiana Legislature.

NEW-ORLEANS, Friday, March 5.

The Legislature adjourned sine die last night. Among its last acts was the adoption of a joint resolution indorsing Gen. GRANT'S inaugural, and the passage of the General Appropriation bill. The latter makes special provision for the payment of the interest on both the six and eight per cent. Levee Bonds. The Five Million Levee Bond bill, passed in the House a few days since, failed to reach the Senate.

The Governor has signed the joint resolution authorizing the Governor and Treasurer to negotiate loans by pledging the State bonds whenever deemed necessary to meet the payment of interest, also the bill authorizing the City of New-Orleans to issue $5,000,000 of gold bonds, $3,000,000 of which are to be exchanged for outstanding city currency, and the balance to cancel present indebtedness.

The bill providing for a State revenue contains a clause licensing gambling houses on the payment of $5,000.

Four Firemen Killed at a Fire in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Ill., Friday, March 5—Midnight.

Early this evening a calamitous fire occurred in the buildings Nos. 41 to 47 Canal-street. Eleven men were on the roof when it gave way. Four firemen, named CHAS. WEITT, GEO. BERGH, THOS. O'BRIEN and PETER MORETTA, were killed, and the others escaped. The buildings were occupied as a machine-shop, planing-mill, &c., and were owned by WISDOM & LEE, and valued at $40,000. Their loss is fully $50,000. The total loss exceeds $75,000. None of the lost bodies were recovered, as they fell into the burning ruins, and the fire is yet raging.

BALTIMORE, March 5.—About one hundred first-cabin passengers, refugees from Cuba, arrived in this city yesterday on the steamer Cuba.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Friday, March 5.

The Senate met at noon, the Vice-President in the chair.

Senator BROWNLOW, of Tennessee, was sworn in. He was too feeble to come to the President's desk, and took the oath of office in his seat.

A resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee to inform the House that a quorum of the Senate had assembled, and was ready to proceed with business.

THE WORK OF LAST SESSION.

Mr. SUMNER offered a resolution, which was agreed to, directing the Secretary of State to send to the Senate a list of acts passed at the last session of the Fortieth Congress; those which became laws without the approval of the President, as well as those which received his signature. Agreed to.

THE PRESIDENT NOTIFIED.

On motion of Mr. CAMERON, a Committee of Senators, composed of Messrs. CAMERON and MCCREERY, was appointed to join the House Committee to wait upon the President, and inform him of the organization of the two Houses of Congress, and their readiness to receive any communication he might desire to make.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

Mr. ANTHONY presented memorials of the Legislature of Minnesota in regard to the St. Croix River. Also, a memorial of the Legislature of Dakota relative to the United States Land Office in the valley of the Red River of the North.

Mr. MCCREERY presented the petition of JOHN P. THOMAS, of Kentucky, for the removal of political disabilities.

The Committees of the new Congress not being yet appointed, the foregoing memorials, &c., and the following bills were laid on the table.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. HARLAN introduced a bill granting land to the Iowa and Missouri State Line Railroad Company.

By Mr. WILSON—A bill for the more equal distribution of national banking capital—the same bill he introduced last season. Also, a bill to establish a line of steamships between the United States and Europe.

By Mr. THAYER—A bill to repeal the Tenure-of-Office act, and he gave notice that he would call it up to-morrow.

By Mr. EDMUNDS—A bill to amend the act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices and for other purposes.

Mr. WILLIAMS introduced a substitute for the bill introduced by Mr. THAYER, suspending the operation of the Tenure-of-Office act until the 4th of March, 1873.

Mr. CONKLING introduced a bill to authorize the New-York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company to land its submarine cable upon the shores of the United States. Also, a bill to provide for a line of United States mail steamships for the conveyance of mails and passengers between New-York and Europe.

Mr. SAWYER offered a resolution providing for a joint committee, consisting of three Senators and five Representatives, to consider all propositions for the removal of disabilities imposed by the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution.

Mr. TRUMBULL objected, but afterward withdrew his objection, saying he approved of the appointment of the proposed Committee.

Mr. HOWARD renewed his objection.

Mr. GRIMES offered a resolution of inquiry relative to contracts between the Navy Department and NORMAN WIARD, which was agreed to.

Mr. DRAKE offered an amendment to the rules of the Senate so as to provide that Indian treaties shall be hereafter considered in open session.

Mr. HOWARD introduced a bill to establish an Ordnance Commission, and to consolidate the Ordnance and Artillery Bureau.

Mr. STEWART introduced a bill relative to the refinement of gold and silver bullion.

Mr. ANTHONY moved the reappointment of the Committee on the Revision of Rules in advance of the other Committees. Agreed to.

Mr. HARLAN introduced a joint resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee of three Senators and five Representatives, to consider all propositions relating to Indian tribes.

Mr. SAWYER introduced a bill authorizing payment for certain services rendered to the United States in the late insurrectionary States.

Mr. SPENCER introduced a bill to encourage the production of cotton in the United States.

Mr. SUMNER offered a joint resolution granting a pension to Mrs. LINCOLN, and asked for its immediate consideration; but Mr. EDMUNDS objected.

Mr. SUMNER introduced a bill to enforce the several provisions of the Constitution abolishing slavery, &c., by securing the elective franchise to all citizens, without regard to race or color.

Mr. GRIMES offered a resolution for the appointment of a committee of two Senators to go, without waiting for the House Committee, and inform the President of the organization of the Senate. The resolution was agreed to, and the Vice-President appointed Messrs. GRIMES and CRAGIN to be such Committee.

The Senate then took a recess until 1:45 P. M.

At the end of the recess the session was resumed.

Mr. GRIMES reported that the Committee appointed to wait upon the President had performed the duty assigned them, and the President would immediately communicate with the Senate.

Gen. RAWLINGS, of Gen. GRANT'S Staff, then stepped forward and said he was directed by the President of the United States to present to the Senate two messages in writing. Major LEET also appeared and presented another message.

Mr. EDMUNDS at once moved to go into executive session. The motion was agreed to, and slowly, and with a general murmur of profound disgust, the crowd left the galleries.

At 2:30 the doors were reopened, and the Senate immediately adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

After the reading of the journal, on motion of Mr. SCHENCK, a message was ordered to be sent to inform the Senate that the House was organized and ready to proceed to business.

On motion of Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, a committee on rules was ordered.

NEW MEMBERS SWORN IN.

Mr. BENJAMIN offered a resolution that the oath be administered to Messrs. VAN HORN and DYER, of Missouri, and proceeded to advocate it.

Mr. MCCORMICK moved to lay the motion on the table. Negatived.

Mr. ELDRIDGE voted in the negative with the explanation that he did so because Messrs. VAN HORN and DYER had prima facie evidence to their right to their seats, but he considered it extremely unfair that because they were Republicans they should be sworn in to the exclusion of the Democrats who were first called, and who had the same prima facie evidence of their right.

The resolution was agreed to without a division, and Messrs. VAN HORN and DYER were sworn in.

Mr. WOOD offered a resolution, directing the oath to be administered to Mr. HAMILL, of Maryland, who was sworn in yesterday.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, on whose objection yesterday the oath had not been administered, said that he had since examined the evidence in the case, and, while it left the question doubtful, he thought that the prima facie case made by the Governor's certificate ought to prevail, and that Mr. HAMILL ought to have his seat. He therefore withdrew all objection, but asked the gentleman from New-York to add to his resolution a direction that the papers be submitted to the Committee on Elections.

Mr WOOD modified the resolution accordingly, and it was adopted.

Mr. HAMILL was thereupon sworn in.

CONTESTED SEATS.

Mr. O'NEILL presented the papers of LEONARD MYERS, contesting the seat of Mr. MAFFETT, from the Third District of Pennsylvania, to be referred to the Committee on Elections when appointed.

Mr. SCHENCK offered a resolution referring the credentials of the persons claiming seats as Representatives from Louisiana to the Committee on Elections when appointed. After a tedious discussion, the resolution was adopted.

THE PRESIDENT NOTIFIED.

On motion of Mr. SCHENCK, a committee of three was appointed, to join a like committee on the part of the Senate, to notify the President that Congress was in session, and ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

Messrs. SCHENCK, LOGAN and KERR were appointed.

MORE NEW MEMBERS.

Mr. BECK offered a resolution for the swearing in of Messrs. WINCHESTER and RICE, of Kentucky, who, on objection from Mr. SHANKS, of Indiana, were not sworn in yesterday, and that the papers be referred to the Committee on Elections. The resolution was adopted, and Messrs. WINCHESTER and RICE were sworn in.

Mr. WOODWARD offered a resolution to refer to the Committee on Elections the contested case from the Twenty-first District of Pennsylvania, with instructions to report as soon as practicable which of the two claimants has the prima facie right to the seat.

PENNSYLVANIA CONTESTED ELECTION.

The House refused to second the previous question, and then Mr. SCOFIELD moved as an amendment a resolution reciting that the Governor of Pennsylvania had declared in a proclamation that no such returns had been received from the Twenty-first District as to authorize him to give a certificate to either of the two persons claiming it; but that the Governor had subsequently transmitted affiavits to the Clerk of the House, which he stated indicated the election of JOHN COVODE, and therefore directing that Mr. COVODE be sworn as the sitting member without prejudice to the claims of HENRY D. FOSTER, contestant.

THE NEW CABINET.

During the discussion, there suddenly sprung up a scene of excitement. A messenger had arrived with news of the Cabinet appointments, and there was a general demand that the names should be read from the Clerk's desk. They were read, and the House became so much excited that it was impossible to resume business for some time.

Mr. ELDRIDGE suggested that the House take a recess for ten minutes, so that the mourners might have an opportunity to commiserate each other. (Laughter.)

A recess was taken, and upon reassembling, Mr. WOODWARD, resuming the floor, said: "As to the Secretary of the Navy, a more Conservative or respectable citizen was not to be found in Pennsylvania."

Finally, a substitute offered by Mr. DAWES was agreed to, referring the whole matter to the Committee on Elections, with instructions to report which of the two claimants has the prima facie right to the seat.

On motion of Mr. SCOFIELD, the time for taking testimony in the contested election case of Mr. TAYLOR against Mr. READING, from the Fifth District of Pennsylvania, was extended for sixty days.

COMMITTEE REPORT.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the Joint Committee appointed to wait on the President, reported that the Committee had performed that duty, and that the President had informed the Committee that he had about two hours previously, anticipating that the Senate would be in session, sent some nominations to that body, but that he had no message to send to Congress.

MORE NEW MEMBERS.

Mr. FARNSWORTH moved that Messrs. CLIFT, TIFT, EDWARDS, GORE, PRINCE and YOUNG be sworn as Representatives from Georgia, the Sixth District being vacant. From the statement made in support of the motion it appeared that these persons were elected at the same time for both the last Congress and the present one.

Mr. WARD suggested that the whole matter should be referred to the Committee on Elections, with instructions to inquire as to the fact whether or not Georgia was entitled to representation at all.

After much debate the resolution was modified and adopted, referring the question to the Committee on Elections.

OFFICERS OF THE HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. FERRISS, the House proceeded to complete its organization by the election of a Clerk, Doorkeeper, Sergeant-at-Arms, Chaplain and Postmaster.

Mr. WARD nominated for Clerk EDWARD MCPHERSON, of Pennsylvania, the Clerk of the last House.

Mr. NIBLACK nominated CHARLES W. CARRIGAN, of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BROOKS having been appointed one of the tellers, asked to be excused, saying that he did not want to have anything to do with the election of the Clerk.

The result of the vote was for EDWARD MCPHERSON, 128; for CHARLES W. CARRIGAN, 59. Mr. MCPHERSON was thereupon declared duly elected, and had the oath of office administered to him by the Speaker.

Mr. WARD nominated N. G. ORDWAY, of New-Hampshire, for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms. Mr. MUNGEN nominated OWEN THORNE, of the District of Columbia. By unanimous consent the vote was then taken by count, and resulted—for N. G. ORDWAY, 121; for OWEN THORNE, 53. Mr. ORDWAY was thereupon declared duly elected, and had the oath of office administered to him by the Speaker.

OTIS S. BURTON, of New-York, was elected Doorkeeper, having received 124 votes against 54 for DAVID J. WAGGONER, of Illinois; and WM. S. KING was elected Postmaster, having received 120 votes against 56 for WILLIAM LINES, of New-York.

The officers elected held the same positions under the last House.

On motion of Mr. JUDD, the election of Chaplain was postponed until next Tuesday.

DRAWING FOR SEATS.

Mr. SCHENCK offered the usual resolution for drawing seats.

Mr. DAWES wanted unanimous consent to draw a seat for his colleague, Mr. BUTLER, who was absent.

Mr. WOOD wanted the like privilege for his colleague, Mr. COX, now in Europe, and Mr. KERR the like privilege for Mr. MAYHEM, of New-York, who is sick, while Mr. LYNCH wanted the privilege extended to the colleagues of all absent members; but objection was made, and the privilege was not extended to any.

The members then vacated their seats, and printed slips were placed in a box, from which a page, blindfolded, drew them one by one. The name was called aloud by the Clerk, and the member answering to it selected his seat and continued to occupy it. One of the first names drawn was that of Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, now Secretary of State, but he was not present, and his former seat was taken by Mr. PAINE. The names of Messrs. MORRISSEY, COX, WOOD and FOX, of New-York, came out early in the drawing. Mr. MORRISSEY chose Mr. WOOD'S former seat and Mr. WOOD chose MORRISSEY'S, but probably with a view to an interchange.

Messrs. GARFIELD and LOGAN got early chances, and selected their former seats. Mr. JENCKES was called in time to be able to make a good selection on the Republican side of the Chamber, next to that of Mr. CHURCHILL. Mr. THAD. STEVENS' old seat was chosen by Mr. WILLIAMS, of Pennsylvania. Messrs. BINGHAM and SCOFIELD and other Republicans got seats on the Democratic side. One of the last names drawn was that of Mr. SCHENCK, who had to take a back seat on the Republican side. Mr. VOORHEES was also among the latest called.

The call being concluded, the House, at 4:40, adjourned until Tuesday next.

Sale of Mr. Leutze's Pictures, &c.

On Thursday and Friday evenings LEAVITT, STEBEIGH & Co. sold the effects of the late Mr. E. LEUTZE, consisting of books, pictures and curiosities. There were no books of great value. L'Ecole de Cavalerie, an illustrated folio of 1733, brought $25; and two quarto volumes of colored plates of the costumes of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth centuries were sold for $30. Of the antique furniture, an elaborately carved oak cupboard brought $260; one carved chair went as high as $72 50, others for $25 and $30. Two guns of CROMWELL'S time brought one $50, the other $70; a crossbow, dating back to a time anterior to the use of gunpowder, went for $35; an old sword worn by EDWIN BOOTH as Don Cæsar de Bazan was bought for $65.

The pictures were sold yesterday evening, beginning with paintings by Mr. LEUTZE. "Emancipation," a cartoon intended for the Capitol at Washington, sold for $55. The "Crusader's Return," regarded by some as Mr. LEUTZE'S best work, a picture for which he had refused $2,500, sold for $625. A "Venetian Lady," Mr. LEUTZE'S last work, brought $200. A small picture of the Yo Semite Valley by BIERSTADT, brought $405. LEUTZE'S "Henry VIII. and Holbein," $210. Among the pictures contributed by the Artists' Mutual Aid Society, L. J. GUY'S "Who's There?" reached the highest price, $750; a landscape by HART, $200; WHITTREDGE'S "Trout Brook at Milford," a charming little picture, sold for $360; BAKER'S "Belle of the Day," a pretty little blonde, brought $210; KENSETT'S "Reminiscence of the Catskill," $130; EASTMAN JOHNSON'S "Napping," $160; GIFFORD'S "Sea Shore, $47 50; HUNTINGTON'S "Lower Ausable Lake." $85. The water colors by WM. L. THOMAS of London, brought good prices; "Welcoming a Guest in the Olden Time," $205; "Marguerite," $55; "Little Dorrit," $65; "A 'Blue bell Bank," $50; "Gathering Blackberries," $50. This closed the sale, which was on the whole a successful one.

Republican Union General Committee.

This Committee met Thursday evening at the corner of Twenty-second-street and Broadway, Mr. J. V. GRIDLEY, Chairman. On motion of Mr. IRA O. MILLER, resolutions were unanimously adopted protesting against the passage of the bill in the Legislature interfering with the affairs of the Tax Office.

A communication from the German Republican Central Committee, expressing their fidelity to the Republican cause and hopes of gaining many Germans to its ranks, was read and accepted.

Mr. TOUCEY, from a Committee on Inaugural Resolutions, said that in imitation of the style of the new President, the sentiments of the General Committee would be presented in a very few words, as follows:

Resolved, That we are glad that "a party of the name of Johnson" has gone out.

Resolved, That we have an unbounded satisfaction in knowing that a greater and better party by the name of GRANT has come in. [Applause.]

The resolutions were passed unanimously. Adjourned.

The Fallen Church Steeple at Morrisania.

At a special meeting of the Trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Morrisania, whose steeple fell as reported a couple of weeks ago, the propriety of repairing the building was considered, and a very strong adverse sentiment developed. The entire edifice was built of manufactured brick, and the same causes which produced the fall of one part of it, will in time produce the fall of all parts of it. During an examination of the building, three prominent builders of this City found that its piers had all more or less settled, and they recommended that that part of it which is still standing be taken down. The cost of repairs, if they should be decided upon finally, will amount to $15,000. The cost of a new building, on the foundation of the present structure, will be in addition to what can be saved of the woodwork, only $25,000. The Trustees have represented their condition to the public in the hope that sufficient funds may be supplied to run up a new church.

Balls Last Night.

Last night one of the fortnightly "Progressive Sociables" took place at Everett Hall, corner of Broadway and Thirty-fourth street, and was crowded, as usual. These dances receive the name of "progressive," partly because they aid the funds of a society of spiritualists that attend preachings there every Sunday, and partly because they initiate a reform upon the usual extravagant dressing and late hours in general practice. Visitors come at 8 o'clock, in either day or evening dresses, as may suit them, and the ball closes soon after 11. Every participant can thus been in bed by midnight, and ready the next day for work, without uneasiness.

Companies G and I, Twelfth Infantry, gave a promenade concert and hop last evening at Irving Hall. Many members of other companies of the regiment, and of other regiments were present, and the affair was brilliant. The State Fencibles, comprising Company H, Ninth Regiment, gave also a very enjoyable ball, yesterday, at their armory, No. 221 West Twenty-sixth-street. Mr. CHARLES M. SCHIEFFELIN, the Lieutenant commanding, was in charge of the proceedings, assisted by his brother officers.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

A Political, Literary and Miscellaneous Newspaper.

The NEW-YORK TIMES,—started in September, 1851,—has for many years been recognized as among the most successful, popular and influential newspapers in the country. It is still under the control and management of its original founders, who, with greatly increased resources and experience, will spare no pains to extend and strengthen its claims upon the confidence and support of the public.

In its political discussions and preferences the TIMES is Republican,—and supports the cardinal principles and leading measures of that party as on the whole best calculated to secure the peace and promote the prosperity of all sections of our common country. It was among the first to advocate the nomination and election of Gen. GRANT to the Presidency, and will sustain, with all the ability it can command, the principles and policy of his Administration.

The TIMES will insist upon Reform in all branches of the public service,—economy in the administration of the Government,—the payment of the public debt and the maintenance of the public credit,—the adoption of equal and impartial suffrage,—the removal of useless political disabilities,—the preservation of peace,—the elevation of labor,—the vindication of our national rights,—and, in general, such measures as will strengthen our Republican institutions in the confidence of our own people, and commend them to the respect and admiration of the rest of the world.

As a NEWSPAPER, the TIMES will continue to be, as it has been, unsurpassed.

Its CORRESPONDENCE, by Telegraph and by Mail, from all parts of the world, will be full, prompt, reliable and interesting. In this respect it will maintain the high reputation it has thus far enjoyed.

Its REPORTS of proceedings in Congress and in the State Legislature,—of the Law Courts, social, political and literary associations, public meetings, and of whatever else may enlist or attract the public interest, will be prepared with care and with special attention to the convenience and instruction of the great body of the Reading Public. In its Commercial, Financial, Real Estate and general Market Reports, special pains will be taken to embody the latest news, in the most reliable and acceptable form.

A LITERARY Department will be maintained, in which will be given Reviews and notices of all the important and interesting issues of the Press; —and the Fine Arts, including Music, the Drama, painting and sculpture, will receive careful attention at the hands of competent and experienced critics.

The EDITORIAL Department of the TIMES will be devoted to the intelligent, temperate and useful discussion of the current events of the day, in every department of public activity and interest, with the general aim of instructing and guiding the public mind rather than exciting public passion or ministering to a morbid curiosity. Special care will be taken to exclude everything which can deprave the morals, or lower the taste of the great body of intelligent readers.

The Sunday Edition of the TIMES contains, in addition to all the news of the day, from eight to ten columns of interesting literary matter, selected with great care from the latest periodical literature of this country and Europe, including the best stories, poems, &c., besides original articles by accomplished writers on subjects of general interest. It is therefore not only a NEWSPAPER, in the proper sense of the word, but a journal of ART, LITERATURE and FASHION; and no pains are spared to make it the most complete and interesting Sunday newspapers in the country. The matter it contains is always fresh and new, and is arranged in a tasteful and attractive manner.

The TIMES issues three editions, all of the very largest size, on large quarto sheets, each containing fifty-six columns, printed in clear and legible type, at the following rates:

MAIL SUBSCRIBERS.

WEST SIDE ELEVATED RAILWAY.

SEVEN PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE CONVERTIBLE BONDS.

The undersigned, Sole Agents for the sale of the above-named Bonds, now offer a limited amount at the rate of EIGHTY-FIVE (85) PER CENT.

The opportunity to purchase a Coupon Bond on productive property in the City of New-York at a rate yielding over NINE PER CENT. average annual interest, and with valuable convertible rights, seldom occurs; and investors will do well to anticipate the advance certain to occur in the market value of these "HOME SECURITIES" on a "METALLIC BASIS."

Subscriptions will also be received for the same Bonds at par, payable when the Railway is under contract and so far completed as to make close connections at 30th-st. with the Hudson River Railway.

Residents of the River Towns who desire to secure the inestimable benefits to result from the proposed extension, are respectfully solicited to ride upon the experimental half-mile of the Railway in Greenwich-st., which will be open to their inspection from 1 to 5 P. M. daily, and by their subscriptions on either plan to aid in hastening the completion of this enterprise, by which the public will be so largely benefited, and the interests of the City and its northern suburbs jointly promoted.

FIVE WEEKS IN A BALLOON.

D. APPLETON & CO.,
Nos. 90, 92 and 94 Grand-st.,
Publish this day,
THE SECOND EDITION OF
FIVE WEEKS IN A BALLOON; OR,
JOURNEYS AND DISCOVERIES IN AFRICA
BY THREE ENGLISHMEN.
By JULES VERNE.
1 Vol., 12mo., Paper Cover, $1; Cloth, $1 50.

"Five Weeks in a Balloon" is, in a measure, a satire on English books of African travel. So far as the geography, the inhabitants, the animals, and the features of the country are described, it is entirely accurate. It is, in some particulars, a survey of the whole field of African discovery, and in this way will often serve to refresh the memory of the reader. The mode of locomotion is, of course, purely imaginary, and the incidents and adventures fictitious. The latter are abundantly amusing, and, in view of the wonderful "travelers' tales" with which we have been entertained by African explorers, they can scarcely be considered extravagant.

Sent free by mail to any address in the United States, on receipt of the price.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

A remarkably dull and quiet day yesterday at the Real Estate Exchange. The attendance was very slim, and when Mr. MULLER commenced his sale the handfull of men present seemed almost lost in the great room, which, during the past week, has been nearly every day crowded to excess, and where the din of contending auctioneers has almost deafened the ears of the assembled multitude.

The principal operators were not present. Many familiar faces were missing, and a lull in the great real estate excitement prevailed. A rest seemed really necessary to all parties; but next week, with the great amount of desirable improved and unimproved property in this City and the adjoining counties which is to be presented, the excitement will break out afresh, and the extravagant prices paid during the week past will unquestionably be overshadowed by the prices which will be obtained during the week to come.

The advertising columns of the TIMES will, on Monday, present to the public an assortment of unimproved lots and of improved property in this City, in Brooklyn, and in other places convenient to New-York, better than has been offered for some weeks past. Many very desirable plots would have been offered during the past week but for the over crowded state of the auctioneers' books.

The Dutchess County and Inwood property for sale by Messrs. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & Co., the Boulevard lots offered by Messrs. MULLER, WILKINS & Co., the Broadway Boulevard, Fifth and Madison avenue property to be sold by Messrs. ALLEN & BROWN, and the Westchester County and Brooklyn property for sale by other firms, are all desirable. Many of them are in the locations most sought after. Those who desire to purchase will do well to be on hand early, otherwise they will probably be unable to get anywhere near the stands.

PEREMPTORY SALE AT AUCTION.
JAMES M. MILLER
WILL SELL ON MONDAY, MARCH 15,
AT 12 O'CLOCK, AT EXCHANGE SALESROOM, NO. 111 BROADWAY,
FORTY-EIGHT PARCELS OF LAND,
CONTAINING ABOUT
ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE LOTS,
ESTATE OF LEWIS G. MORRIS.

This is the only property on the line of Central-av. having direct communication with the RAILROADS. Fine streets are already opened leading to the HORSE AND STEAM CARS. It is the only property in this vicinity that will not require GRADING OR CLEARING AWAY for building purposes, and is entirely free from trees, rocks, shrubbery and other nuisances, which in some localities cost so much to remove. Persons desirous of visiting the property can take the horse or steam cars (which run at all hours) to Tremont, thence to Central-av., about five minutes' walk from the cars on a well-regulated road; or it may be reached by carriage through the Central Park and Central-avenue Boulevard, the most complete and magnificent carriage and equestrian drives in the world. A man will be found at Heincel's Hotel, adjoining the property, to give such information as may be desired in regard to the property. The great feature of Westchester County at present in this connection, viewed from a City stand-point, is the

which is one of the broadest and finest avenues in the world for the general characteristics of dimensions, locality and the beauty of surrounding and adjoining scenery. It is to have an addition of fourteen feet walk on each side, divided from the carriage and bridle drive by rows of beautiful trees; the contract for grading the sidewalks is now being carried out. For descriptive pamphlets, (containing maps and diagrams,) and further particulars, apply to the auctioneer,

ADRIAN H. MULLER, Auctioneer.

ADRIAN H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & CO., will sell at auction, on TUESDAY, March 16, at 12 o'clock, at the Exchange Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, the following described real estate, viz:

128 VALUABLE BUILDING LOTS, known as part of the ESTATE OF JOHN LOW, DECEASED.
Sale to be made under the direction of
HENRY H. ANDERSON, ATTORNEY.

These lots are situate between 10TH AND 11TH AVS.
AND
60TH AND 62D STS.

They are located on HIGH GROUND,
and have a very regular
SLOPE TOWARD THE HUDSON.

No remaining estate in the City is more uniformly and nearly EVEN AND ON GRADE.

The land is peculiarly DRY AND NATURALLY DRAINED, owing to its high situation. Residences built upon it will have the advantage of
and will also have, at nearly all points,
BEAUTIFUL VIEWS of the
HUDSON RIVER AND NEW-JERSEY SHORES.

The constructions in the neighborhood are
FIRST CLASS.

The streets between this property and Central Park are in process of being GRADED AND SEWERED.

In order to continue the character of the neighborhood, all these lots will be sold with the usual
RESTRICTIONS AGAINST NUISANCES.

This property is also opposite the CENTRAL PARK,
and near the lower end of the
RIVER SIDE PARK,
which extends for nearly THREE MILES
along the banks of the
HUDSON RIVER.

BUSINESS VALUE OF TENTH-AV.

is not excelled by any, being the longest avenue in New-York, and, by connecting with Kingsbridge road, is the direct route from the west side of New-York and Westchester County, to the lower part of the City.

THE BELT RAILROAD IN 59TH-ST.
AND

give easy access to this property from all the directions.

Sixty per cent. of the purchase money may remain on bond and mortgage.

Maps at the office of the auctioneers, No. 7 Pine-st.

ADRIAN H. MULLER, Auctioneer.

ADRIAN H. MULLER, Auctioneer.

EXECUTORS' SALE OF SIXTEEN VALUABLE CENTRAL PARK LOTS.

ADRIAN H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & CO. will sell at auction on MONDAY, March 15, at 12 o'clock, at the Exchange Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, by order of executors:

8TH-AV.—Eight lots, comprising the entire front between 84th and 85th sts., each about 25 by 100 feet.

84TH-ST.—Four lots on the north side, 100 feet west of 8th-av., each 25 by 102.2.

85TH-ST.—Four lots on the south side, 100 feet west of 8th-av., each 25x102.2.

Maps can be obtained at the auctioneers' office, No. 7 Pine-st.

"THE DURYEA FARM"

Is situated in the heart of the thriving village of East New-York. It is surrounded by good improvements. The lots are on good grades, within a few minutes' walk of five different railroads, and in the immediate vicinity of churches and schools. East New-York already contains a population of 10,000, and is increasing more rapidly than any suburb in the vicinity of the Metropolis. Nearly one hundred persons purchased single lots at JOHNSON & MILLER'S great sale of the Duryea Farm on the 1st of March, with a view of erecting houses. This must greatly enhance the value of the adjacent lots, one hundred of which were not offered on the above date, but will be sold absolutely, without any limit, at 12 o'clock on TUESDAY, at "Exchange," No. 111 Broadway. Call on JOHNSON & MILLER, No. 25 Nassau-st., for particulars.

EAST NEW-YORK,
"THE GRAND FOCAL POINT"
OF
FIVE DIFFERENT RAILROADS,

Is much nearer Wall-st. than Harlem, and can be reached in less time. Although a city of itself, with churches, schools and all other conveniences, lots in its very centre sold at the "Great Duryea Sale" for a few hundred dollars, while on the upper part of Manhattan Island, and in the lower part of Westchester County, on the same day, they commanded ten times that sum. How long can this disparity of prices exist? The erection of the bridge across the East River will soon be an established fact. Brooklyn and New-York will be one united city, and an advance unparalleled in the history of real estate will be the result. The 100 lots on the Duryea Farm, to be sold at auction absolutely, by JOHNSON & MILLER, at 12 o'clock on TUESDAY, will in a few years sell as readily for as many thousands as they now do hundreds. For further information, call on the auctioneers, No. 25 Nassau-st., New-York.

BOULEVARD LOTS AND IMPROVED PROPERTY.

J. COLE will sell on WEDNESDAY, March 10, at 12 o'clock, at the Commercial Exchange, No. 389 Fulton-st., Brooklyn:

10 dwelling houses in the best parts of Brooklyn.

REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.

NORTH NEW-YORK.

JAMES M. MILLER
Will sell at auction, on TUESDAY, March 16, at Exchange Salesrooms, No. 111 Broadway, at 12 o'clock,

68 VALUABLE LOTS OF LAND, located in North New-York, and but a short distance (a few minutes' walk) from Harlem Bridge, 3d-av. cars, the Harlem boats, and the Harlem and Fordham horse-cars. The important improvements now being made, and those about to be inaugurated, will make this the most desirable property in the vicinity of New-York, as the upper end of the City, in the vicinity of

is rapidly becoming a great business centre, and one of the finest avenues in the world, and the fashionable drive for this part of the county, is now about completed. The streets along the property are laid out and graded, and those adjacent are paved and lighted with gas.

SALE POSITIVE.

For further particulars apply at the office of the auctioneer,

NO. 28 PINE-ST.

MEDICAL.

THOUSANDS ARE RUINED BEYOND redemption in this life by not calling on Dr. HUNTER sooner or later. He can cure the worst cases of venereal disease in a shorter time than any other physician, or no pay taken. Skeptics and doubters will please call and read hundreds of reliable certificates of cures made within the last thirty years of almost hopeless cases, who have tried without benefit dozens of the most eminent physicians and surgeons. Dr. Hunter is in constant attendance, from 8 in the morning till 9 at night, at his old office, No. 3 Division-st., since 1834. Charges moderate and a cure guaranteed. Separate rooms, so that the patient sees no one but the Doctor himself. Inviolate secrecy in every instance. His great remedy, Hunter's Red Drop, cures venereal diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of other remedies; cures in new cases in less than 48 hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury; but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it; for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by chemists, druggists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear.

What human being with any pretension to Christianity will say that this medicine should not be made known far and wide? Its popularity is so great that there is not a quack doctor in the City who has not attacked it; and when they find that their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $2 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st., New-York. One dollar will secure, by return mail, his medical work, 300 pages.

A PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE—Containing nearly 300 pages and 150 fine plates and engravings of the anatomy of the sexual organs, in a state of health and disease, with a treatise on self-abuse, its deplorable consequences upon the mind and body, with the author's plan of treatment—the only rational and successful mode of cure, as shown by the report of cases treated. A truthful adviser of the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain doubts of their physical condition. Sent, free of postage, to any address on receipt of 25 cents, in specie or postage stamps. Address Dr. LA CROIX, No. 31 Maiden-lane, Albany, N. Y.

IRRITABLE BLADDER CAUSED by piles; stricture—its instant curability; frequent identity of symptoms of the two diseases; a lecture to his surgical class, by EDWARD H. DIXON, M. D., editor of the Scalpel. See No. 46. Inclose 50 cents to Box No. 3,121. Office hours from 8 to 9, 1 to 3, and 7 to 9 evenings, at No. 42 5th-av.

DR. H. D. GRINDLE, NO. 6 AMITY-place, near Amity-st., makes it his special practice to treat all special complaints, in either sex, from whatever cause produced. Sure relief to the most anxious. Youthful vigor regained by my Aphrodisiacus.

AFFLICTED PERSONS OF BOTH SEXES, desiring confidential treatment and a certain cure, consult Dr. Evans, 116 Chatham-st. Consultation free.

$1,000 FOR ANY PRIVATE DISEASE Dr. EVANS' remedies fail of curing. His Elixir restores lost manhood. No. 116 Chatham-st.

UNFORTUNATES OF EITHER SEX guaranteed a sure cure, whatever the matter is, by Dr. EVANS, No. 116 Chatham-st., New-York.

IN ALL CASES OF SECRECY OR NERVOUS debility consult Dr. WEST, at his private medical office, No. 4 Thompson-st., one door from Canal-st.

DR. HUNTER'S BOTANIC CORDIAL restores vigor of youth in one week; gives health and strength to the most debilitated; $5 per bottle. No. 3 Division-st. Book on nervous debility, 60 pages, gratis.

DR. HUNTER CAN CURE WORST cases of venereal diseases, without mercury, in shorter time than any other physician, or no pay taken. No. 3 Division-st. Book of sixty pages and advice free.

HANGING OF FOUR NEGROES.

Execution in Maryland of the Murderers of the Captain and Mate of the Sloop Brave—Confession of the Murderers—Dreadful Scene on the Scaffold.

Correspondence of the New-York Times

PRINCESS ANNE, Somerset County, Md., }
Friday, March 5, 1869. }

On Monday night, the 30th of March, 1868, a murder of peculiar atrocity was committed on board a little oyster schooner lying in the Annamessex River, in this county.

The victims were two white men—BENJ. F. JOHNSON, the Captain, and HENRY CANNON, who acted as both mate and cook of the little schooner-rigged oyster pungy Brave, one of the numerous small vessels engaged in dredging for oysters in the Chesapeake Bay, and the inlets and rivers of the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Both the murdered men were residents of the adjoining County of Dorchester. The murderers were four colored men giving the names of WM. WILSON, WM. WELLS, FRANK ROUNDS and GEO. BAILEY.

The facts, as developed on the trial, were as follows: WELLS had been with Capt. JOHNSON since October, 1867; WILSON had been with him about a month, and BAILEY about three months. FRANK ROUNDS was shipped in Baltimore by a shipping master about two weeks before the murder, and after receiving a month's pay in advance he deserted and shipped on another oyster vessel, on which he was discovered by WILSON on the Thursday before the murder. Capt. JOHNSON on that day went aboard the vessel and claimed him as his hand, which ROUNDS admitted, and took him aboard the Brave. On Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday no work was done on account of stormy weather, except that on Saturday some repairs were made in the vessel.

On Monday the Captain and mate went ashore to a store, and while they were ashore ROUNDS asked if they thought he had any money, and proposed that they should "fix him." We say ROUNDS, because all the others appear to agree that it was he who first broached the subject, but ROUNDS himself insists that it was WILSON.

After the Captain and mate came from ashore they went aboard Capt. PRICE's vessel, lying at about three hundred yards from the Brave. While they were there the original plot was somewhat modified, and it was resolved to knock them in the head as they came over the side of the vessel, and the negroes prepared bludgeons for the purpose. These were simply cord-wood sticks, about seven or eight inches in circumference at the butt end. One of them was shaved off at the handle to give a better grasp. Having made their preparations, the negroes went back to the hold to await the return of their victims. Some of them got to sleep, and the Captain and mate returned before they were aware of it, and got on deck. The Captain called the men to help them haul the punt (small boat) on deck, which they did. The Captain then told ROUNDS and BAILEY to go forward with him to help him cast an anchor, as he expected a storm, and they went with him, while the mate went down in the cabin. As the Captain stooped to fix the anchor-chain ROUNDS struck him over the head with one of the clubs, and knocked him senseless. He supposed he had killed him. WILSON and WELLS at the same time went to the cabin, and WELLS immediately struck the mate with a club across the forehead. WILSON struck next, but his first blow hit WELLS, and his second struck the mate, he thinks, on the back of the head. The negroes then got the vessel under way, BAILEY taking command. About this time the Captain got up, and FRANK ROUNDS says BAILEY went forward and finished him with an ax. This, however, BAILEY and both the others deny, all agreeing that BAILEY did not strike any blow, though he otherwise assisted in the plot. About half an hour afterward the mate (whom they had supposed to be dead) came up out of the cabin with a gun. BAILEY took this from him, and pushed him back into the cabin, and WELLS then went down and knocked him on the head with an ax.

The negroes intended to run the vessel to Norfolk, but she ran aground on Muscle Hole Bar in Tangier Sound, about 2 o'clock in the morning, March 31. After several ineffectual efforts to get the schooner off the bar, it was resolved to abandon her, and ROUNDS and BAILEY then went down into the cabin and ransacked it, breaking open the drawers and hunting for money and valuables. All the murderers then met in the hold, where their own sleeping quarters were situated, to consult as to how they should get away. They resolved to make for the mainland in the boat or punt. Next morning, a little after daylight, they all went on deck, and threw the body of the Captain overboard. ROUNDS, WILSON and WELLS then went to where the mate was lying, and to their surprise they found him still alive and conscious. And now comes the most horrid scene in all this bloody tragedy. The poor man, his head and face smashed almost to a jelly, recognized BAILEY, and cried, "GEORGE! GEORGE!" And even as he thus cried for help, the three devils who had hold of him, lifted him in their strong arms, and cast him into the bay where he sunk with a cry to GEORGE to save him upon his lips. The murderers now took the punt and rowed to Smith's Island, where they went ashore, and hired a negro living there to take them to "any mainland." As he had no boat in which it was safe to attempt to cross the Chesapeake, he rowed them over to Accomac County, one of the two Eastern Shore counties of Virginia, and from the place where they were landed they went to Anancock. Here they separated, ROUNDS and BAILEY going to Baltimore on the steamer Sue, and WILSON and WELLS remaining in Accomac County. WILSON went to live with a man named D. J. TOPPING, near Drummondtown, and WELLS also found work near there. Shortly after WILSON went to live at Mr. TOPPING's, a colored girl, who lived there, had a quarrel with Mrs. TOPPING, and was severely reprimanded. WILSON told the woman if he was her he would not stand it, and then said he and some others had killed two men but a short time before. This scared the colored woman, and she went and told Mrs. TOPPING, who became greatly alarmed, and insisted that WILSON should be immediately discharged. Her husband consented, and turned him off next morning. This was on the 6th of April. After the negro had gone Mr. TOPPING thought that if there were anything at all in his story he ought to have him arrested, and so followed him to Drummondtown, where he caused him to be lodged in jail. He immediately confessed his guilt, told the whole story, and gave information as to the whereabouts of WELLS, who was accordingly arrested the next day. He also immediately confessed his participation in the murder. The prisoners were brought to Princess Anne on April 10 and lodged in jail, and they were indicted for murder on the 15th of the same month. While lying in jail awaiting their trial they made a desperate attack on the jailer in order to break jail, and came near killing that functionary. They were tried before the Circuit Court for Somerset County on the 15th of July, electing to be tried by the Court instead of by jury. The State's Attorney, ADAM C. MILES, Esq., was assisted by JOHN H. HANDY, and the prisoners were defended by Hon. JOHN W. CRISFIELD and HENRY PAGE, Esq. They were found guilty and sentenced to be hanged, the Governor fixing Dec. 4 as the day for their execution.

An active search was meanwhile being made for the other criminals, and on the 15th of October a policeman in Baltimore learned the whereabouts of FRANK ROUNDS. A colored boy in that city had told of a man who had coaxed him to engage in some murderous scheme of robbery, and his description exactly tallied with that of ROUNDS. The officer accordingly went to Guilford-alley, between Light and Charles streets, and found the man. He attempted to arrest him but the negro resisted. The officer then drew his club, when the negro wrested it from him and struck him over the head with it, felling him to the floor. The negro then ran, when the officer fired two shots at him, the second of which took effect in his back, causing him to fall to the pavement. He was arrested and taken to the Station-house, and a surgeon sent for to dress his wounds. Being left unattended a minute he sprung to his feet and made another desperate effort to escape, and was with much difficulty recaptured. He was over six feet in height, and of wonderful muscular developement, and his strength did not appear much affected by his wound. He arrived in Princess Anne on Saturday, Oct. 17, and was immediately recognized by his accomplices, but pretended not to recognize them. He also chose to be tried by the Court instead of by a jury, and he was arraigned on Monday, April 19, and tried the next week, Oct. 28. WILSON and WELLS testified against him, and he himself admitted his participation in the murder, but alleged that it was at the instigation of WILSON and WELLS. He said he did not strike the Captain, but that WELLS struck him and WILSON finished him at the command of BAILEY. He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

About this time a strong effort was made to procure a commutation of the sentence of WILSON and WELLS to imprisonment for life, it being thought they had been the passive tools of ROUNDS, and not therefore so guilty as he was. The effort failed, but when the Governor fixed Jan. 8 as the day for the execution of ROUNDS he respited WILSON and WELLS to that time.

While the prisoners were thus awaiting execution, on the morning of Nov. 11 WILSON and WELLS filed off their irons with a brick and escaped from jail. On the next morning (Thursday) they were tracked by their bloody footprints to a fodder stack near Eden, in this county, and on the next morning one of them was seen asleep in the woods near Salisbury, in the adjoining County of Wicomico. On Sunday evening WILSON was found in the woods sitting on a log eating parched corn, which had been his only food for several days. He was captured without resistance, as he was almost starved. On Nov. 24, WELLS was recaptured near Seaford, in Sussex County, Del., where he was discovered lying by a fire in a thicket. Both were returned to jail and ironed to the floor, in which condition they remained until taken out for execution.

GEO. BAILEY still remained at large. Several men were arrested on suspicion, but none of them proved to be the right man. After a lengthy and fruitless search it occurred to one of the Baltimore Police force to search the prisons of that city. In the City Prison he found the man he was seeking, awaiting his time on a charge of theft and vagrancy. On the 9th of December he brought him to Princess Anne, where he was immediately identified by the other pirates and committed to jail. He took it very coolly, and joked and laughed while being ironed. He admitted that he had been on the vessel, but insisted that he had taken no part in the murder. The other prisoners were shortly afterward respited, in order that their testimony might be had on BAILEY's trial. The evidence showed that he had not taken any active part in the murder himself, but that he had been a party to the plot, and had directed a blow to be struck. He was tried on Jan. 12 by a jury, found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. To-day, (March 5,) to which time the other three had been respited, was fixed for his execution.

Your correspondent visited the prisoners on Wednesday afternoon, being the last person, except the clergy and the officers of the law, admitted to their cells before the execution. He found WILSON and WELLS in one room and ROUNDS and BAILEY in another, all lying on the floor, to which they each had one ankle chained. He did not question BAILEY or ROUNDS, as he was informed that they both professed to be busy with preparations for the future life into which they were soon to be ushered. He had considerable conversation with WILSON and WELLS, and they went over the whole story substantially as it is narrated above. They both insisted that ROUNDS was the originator of the plot, and that he first broached the subject.

THE EXECUTION.

The gallows for their execution is one built in 1861 for the execution of three other criminals, two of whom had been convicted of murder and one of rape. It stands outside the jail in an open yard, and the execution is public. There is an immense crowd present to witness the execution. Thousands of people, black and white, have come in from the surrounding country. Circus side-shows, auctions and other entertainments were provided for the multitude. There was much drunkenness. The culprits laid on the floor all the morning, praying, in abject terror. ROUNDS sold his body for dissection to the Philadelphia physicians. The grave clothes were put on the prisoners two hours before execution. ROUNDS says his real name is FRANK ANDERSON. BAILEY says his name is GEORGE C. BRYAN. At 12:55 o'clock Sheriff SOUTHEY MILES, with the prisoners and clergy, came upon the scaffold. Rev. Messrs. HELLON and CARROLL and the prisoners joined in singing the hymn, "Hide me, O my Saviour," &c. Mr. HELLON then prayed, the prisoners responding fervently. The religious services continued for about fifteen minutes. Each of the prisoners made a speech, saying that he was prepared to die, and admitting that he was guilty. BAILEY asked some one to write to his mother, and told his real name. He said that he did not strike a blow, but was in the plot. Some one in the crowd jeered at them. DENLY answered, warning them that death was near their door. At 1:40 o'clock the Sheriff pulled the bolt from beneath the door, and all of the men fell together. ROUNDS and WELLS died instantly, BAILEY in a few seconds. DENLY did not break his neck, as the rope did not tighten. He groaned and sturggeled horribly—got the rope off his hands and legs, kicked, and caught hold of ROUNDS' shroud with one hand, while with the other he caught his own rope, drew himself up, and got upon the scaffold again. The jailor went up, tightened the rope about the man's neck, and then, with his hands, pushed him off the scaffold. After he fell the second time he continued to struggle for about five minutes—some of the crowd yelling, "That's right. You ought to suffer." The execution occupied about forty-five minutes, and the bodies were cut down at 2:10 o'clock.

The New-York Sewerage System.

The Legislative Committee appointed to investigate the sewerage system adopted by the Croton Board of this City, met at the Fifth-avenue Hotel Thursday morning, but no one appearing to make any complaints against the system, the Committee adjourned to 3 P. M., and meantime issued subpœnas for Gen. VIELE and CHAS. H. HASWELL. At the hour appointed, the investigation was resumed. Mr. J. V. KENDALL, a member of the Committee who was absent at the first sitting, appeared and took his seat.

Mr. Haswell, being sworn, testified that he was familiar with the present sewerage system of the City, and also with the old system; neither the old nor the new system was in his opinion adequate to the wants of the City; the new system had not the capacity to carry off the surface and subsoil drainage, together with the refuse matter from the dwellings; had heard complaints about the present sewerage; they were from contractors who might be interested in the matter; the complaints were that the pipes furnished by the Croton Board were liable to crack, and some of them were cracked when they were laid; would not like to state what contractor complained that cracked pipes were laid; don't know whether he was a contractor for laying sewers at the time the statement was made; am satisfied the Croton Board would not knowingly lay down imperfect pipes; considers pipe sewers objectionable for various reasons; one reason is they have no manholes; another is their great liability to break; these objections against the pipe sewers are professional, and not based on actual observation.

Gen. Viele was next examined. He said that the system, or rather want of system of sewerage existing previous to 1865 was a combination of a long series of errors; the general plan of the present system of sewerage he considered correct; its great defect was that it did not provide for the drainage of the Island of New-York; no proper system of drainage could be combined with the sewerage system; they would have to be independent of each other, although, in many cases, the drainage might run into the sewers before reaching the river; there were at least 5,000 lots in the City utterly destitute of drainage; eventually there would have to be a low level sewer running along the rivers, which would receive the flow from both the sewers and drains. The safety of the City, in a sanitary point of view, would, in his opinion, eventually necessitate the construction of low level sewers running along the East and North Rivers, and terminating at the Battery, where the deposit would have to be pumped out; the Croton Board have power under the law, and are charged with the duty of carrying out a system of drainage such as the City needs.

The investigation was resumed yesterday morning, when Mr. WESTON, engineer in charge of sewers, was further examined relative to the construction of sewers in different parts of the City.

Wm. HITCHMAN, Ex-Speaker and present member of the Assembly, was also examined: he said that up to 1865 there was no particular system of sewerage in operation in New-York; he was not very familiar with the new system adopted by the Croton Board, but from what he knew he was of opinion that if put on a proper basis it would be superior to the old mode; complaints were frequently made of the inequality of the assessments for building sewers under the new system; witness considered the tile sewers entirely inadequate to the wants of the City; he knew of many instances, where houses were uninhabitable at some seasons of the year owing to defects in the sewers; he thought there should be a wide departure from the present plan of sewerage, and different engineering skill should be called in—thus without intending any disrespect to the present engineers; the present system, as far as he knew anything about it, was a piece-meal affair; he thought there should be a uniform system; had been told by contractors that the sewerage system was entirely wrong; they did not state the grounds for their opinion; prefers not to give the names of the contractors who said this; witness considered any system of sewerage that discharged the filth of the City into the rivers at all was defective; it ought, in his opinion, to be deposited in basins whence it could be removed for fertilizing purposes.

Some contractors were also examined yesterday, but their testimony was of little importance.

Whoever the parties were that instigated the investigation, they do not appear to have come forward to back up the charges that were made and insinuated against the Croton Board and their system of sewerage at the time the resolution authorizing the investigation was introduced into the Assembly. The evidence thus far has tended to show that the system of pipe sewerage adopted by the Croton Board is in accordance with the latest experience of European cities, and is probably the best yet devised. But according to Gen. VIELE's testimony, the proper drainage of New-York Island has not been attended to by the Croton Board, although by law it is placed within their jurisdiction.

Coroner's Cases.

Yesterday morning JOHN M. EAGER, a lawyer, whose office was at No. 240 Broadway, was found dead in his room at French's Hotel. He was lying fully dressed upon the floor, with his face pressing the carpet, and one overshoe having been removed, it was evident that while in the act of beginning his preparations for retiring he had fallen from his chair and had immediately expired, as the body when found was stiff and cold, and life had apparently been extinct for some hours. Coroner KEENAN was notified to hold an inquest on the body. The deceased was a gentleman of good legal attainments and of some literary note, and had published some fugitive pieces of considerable merit, one of which appeared in the last issue of Harper's Weekly. He was a native of Orange County, in this State, and was about 49 years of age, and had generally been considered to have enjoyed good health. No post-mortem examination has yet been made, and the cause of death has not yet been determined, but it is presumed to have been congestion of the brain.

JOSEPHINE LOCKWOOD, aged 20 years, died suddenly on Thursday night at No. 40 Forsyth-street, immediately after her return home from a social visit. Coroner KEENAN was notified and will hold an inquest to-day.

American Bible Society.

The stated meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the Bible House, Astor-place, on Thursday, WILLIAM WHITLOCK, Jr., Esq., Vice-President, in the chair.

Fourteen new auxiliaries were recognized; of which, one was in each of the States of Maine, California, West Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Tennessee, and four in Texas.

Various interesting communications were received in regard to the progress of the work, giving several interesting incidents, with the reports for the year, and fiscal and book accounts from missionaries and foreign agents. They were from Mexico, South America, Rev. W. CLARK, in Italy, Rev. C. H. WHEELER, at Harpoot, Rev. CHARLES HARTWELL and Rev. JUSTUS DOOLITTLE, of China, Rev. E. P. HASTINGS, Ceylon, Rev. R. G. WILDER, of Koolapoor, India.

Grants of books were made to the National Orphan's Home, Gettysburg; to the American Sunday School Union; to the Missionary Society and Domestic Board of the Protestant Episcopal Church; to the Southwestern Bible Society, New-Orleans; Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and many others of smaller amount. The entire number of volumes granted was 23,277, besides others to the amount of $100 to the Leon County Bible Society, Florida.

Appropriations to the amount of $56,350 were made for the work in foreign countries for the ensuing year, exclusive of the work in Mexico and South America.

Measures were taken looking to an enlargement of the work of the Society at home and abroad.

The subject of omitting the usual anniversary exercises, which was before the Board at the last stated meeting, and deferred for further consideration, was taken up, when it was finally determined to make no change.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

New-York.

DR. WILLARD PARKER lectured on "The House We Live In," at Olivet Chapel, Second-street, last evening. He divided the human system into different stories or departments, the head being the top one, or look-out, the heart and lungs next, the stomach next, then the kidneys, bowels, &c., the legs being the underpinning upon which the house stands. The head was the chamber of the brain, or lord of the mansion; and when any disorder took place in any of the lower chambers from the stomach or kitchen upward, the fact was announced to the brain or occupant of the upper story. There was a wonderful and prompt system of telegraphy at work between the head and all the other parts of the "house we live in" all the time. The lecture was eagerly listened to by a large audience.

At a meeting of the Police Commissioners on Thursday, Patrolman EDGAR DAVIS, formerly Messenger for the Board, and who was made roundsman on Wednesday, was promoted to be Sergeant of the Sanitary Squad. Sergt. DAVIS has been connected with the force for the past twenty years, and is a universal favorite. The Commissioners also appointed Roundsman JAMES F. MALONEY, of the Fourteenth Precinct, a Sergeant, and assigned him to the Twenty-third Precinct for duty. Roundsman PETER A. SMITH, of the Second Precinct, was also made a Sergeant, and assigned to the Eighth Precinct. Patrolmen P. H. DORAN, of the Fourteenth Precinct, and SOMERSET KINNARD, of the Thirty-first Precinct, were made roundsmen, the former being assigned to fill the vacancy made by the promotion of MALONEY.

The Commissioners of Charities and Correction will in a few days take possession of their much-needed new quarters in the building on the northwest corner of Third-avenue and Eleventh-street. The cost of the structure was $102,500. It is a handsome edifice, in the French style, built of Philadelphia brick, (front,) with Nova Scotia trimmings, and has a Mansard roof. This will doubtless serve the purposes of the Commissioners for many generations.

A general missionary meeting, on behalf of the Mission House of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, will be held in the Church of the Ascension, corner of Tenth-street and Fifth-avenue, on Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Addresses may be expected from Rev. JOHN COTTON SMITH, D. D., Rev. HENRY C. POTTER, D. D., and Rev. SAMUEL DURBOROW.

Rev. H. C. HAYDEN, of Painsville, Ohio, will preach under the direction of the Young Men's Christian Association, to-morrow evening, at the Collegiate Church, on Fifth-avenue, corner of Twenty-ninth-street. The Association will have a social gathering at their rooms on Monday evening, for members and their lady friends.

E. C. MITCHELL, of No. 192 Washington-street, Brooklyn, yesterday entered the store of SHELDON & Co., No. 500 Broadway, and laid down a satchel containing a large number of manuscript sermons and lectures, said to belong to Rev. H. M. GALLAGHER, of Brooklyn. When Mr. MITCHELL was ready to leave he found that a sneak thief had carried off his satchel, without, of course, being aware of the unmerchantable character of its contents.

Last evening Mr. CHAS. H. BRAINARD delivered his popular lecture on the "Life and Times of Whittier," before the Young Men's Christian Association, at the rooms, corner of Fifth-avenue and Twenty-second-street. There was a large attendance, and the lecture was very well received.

JAMES BARRY was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct and was locked up in a cell of the Tenth Precinct Station-house, in Eldridge-street. After he had been in the cell for a short time the doorman going down to inspect the prisoners, found BARRY suspended by a cord around his neck from his cell door. The doorman instantly cut down the dying man, and the proper remedies being applied he was quickly restored. He was then secured so as to make any further attempts at self-destruction impossible.

Prof. DIMON entertained a large audience last evening, in the hall of the Rutgers Female College, with a choice selection of readings, which were well rendered.

The Phonographic Advocate is the title of a new periodical, devoted to the popularizing of phonographic writing. It is edited by Mr. JAS. E. MUNSON. The first number, for March, is out, and contains several interesting articles.

Brooklyn.

Mrs. GATES, wife of Roundsman GATES, of the Forty-sixth Precinct, while on the way to the Williamsburg Savings Bank, in Fourth-street, E. D., yesterday forenoon, was robbed of $350 in money and a check for $48 by a thief who snatched it from her hand just as she was almost on the steps of the bank. He and a companion took different directions and escaped.

The Committee of Arrangements appointed at the meeting of the Central Temperance Association, on Tuesday evening, to make preparations for a grand mass meeting, to be held at the Academy of Music, to express opposition to the repeal or modification of the Excise law, have decided to hold the meeting on Friday evening of next week. A number of prominent speakers have already been secured, including Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, Rev. Theo. L. Cuyler, Rev. H. M. Gallaher and Rev. George Lansing Taylor. The Committee of Arrangements consists of Messrs. A. A. Robbins, Rev. G. L. Taylor, Dr. G. I. Bennett, John N. Stearns, S. B. Duryea, Isaac Davis, J. A. Taylor, A. W. Gleason and Charles Latour.

The set of colors ordered by the Board of Aldermen for presentation to the new steamship of the Inman line, the City of Brooklyn, has been completed, and will probably be on exhibition at the City Hall to-morrow. They are seven in number. The most expensive and beautiful is a large silk flag for the saloon, to be draped behind the Captain's chair at the head of the dinner-table. It bears the vessel's name and the arms of this city, beautifully embroidered. There are six other flags for the mastheads—the two American, the two British, and the private flags of the vessel and of the Inman Company.

ANN MCCLAIN, a domestic in the employ of Mr. WM. WARDLOW, of Lafayette, near Tompkins-avenue, was arrested, and taken before Justice RILEY, yesterday, charged with having stolen on or about Feb. 10 jewelry to the value of $300. Examination adjourned until Monday.

During the month of February the "Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor" assisted 9,600. The disbursements, in groceries, bread, coal, rents, medicine, funerals and shoes, amounted to $6,636 06.

A young man engaged board at the house of JEFFERSON MARSHALL, No. 39 Willow-place, on Thursday, and yesterday it was discovered that he had left and carried off jewelry, &c., to the value of $80.

The residence of Mr. F. B. WEBBE, No. 427 Pacific-street, was robbed last evening of jewelry of the value of $110.

New-Jersey.

Some months ago an account was published of the mysterious disappearance of a man named STILLWELL, who left his home in Jersey City under circumstances which, at the time, excited the belief that he had been foully dealt with. No great efforts were made to trace him, as the supposition of murder rested on no stronger foundation than the public credulity, and his own friends did not believe in the impression which prevailed. On Wednesday morning, a letter was received from him, saying that he would be at home about the middle of the month, and, on the evening of the same day, STILLWELL himself made his appearance. He says he was returning, on the evening of Oct. 12, to the Jersey City Ferry, and when at the corner of Fifteenth and West streets, New-York, he was knocked down, the blow rendering him insensible. When he recovered, he found himself in the hold of a vessel, and was finally taken on deck during a storm, and the ship sank. He clung to a plank, and was finally picked up by an English vessel and taken to Baltimore, whence he at once started for Jersey City, where he arrived as stated.

A man named JAMES E. ORD called yesterday at HINDS & SON's piano warerooms, Newark, and hired a $650 piano, directing it to be sent to his house in Market-street. A month's rent, $10, was duly paid in advance, and the piano was forwarded as required. Yesterday one of Mr. HINDS' men observed the piano being taken from the house and carried to the Market-street station, whereupon he immediately gave information of the fact to his employers. Mr. HINDS went to the station and found that the piano had been placed in the car ready for transportation to Philadelphia. On making inquiries at the house in Market-street, it was found that ORD had rented rooms there only a few days previously, and had not been heard of since morning. He has not yet been captured.

BUFFALO—The thermometer marked one degree above zero at 6 o'clock this morning. Last night was the coldest of the season.

FISHKILL, N. Y.—Four days of intense cold, with the mercury below zero every morning, has filled the Hudson with 20 miles of new solid ice. At no time before during this Winter has so much floating ice been visible, and the weather is still very cold. The steamboats and barges which commenced running one week ago, have ceased their trips entirely. Boatmen now look for a late Spring.

THE
INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW-YORK.
212 Broadway, cor. Fulton-st.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

From the New-York Citizen, Feb. 20, 1869.

In another column will be found an advertisement giving the annual financial statement of the National Life Insurance Company. From this statement it will be seen that the Company is in a prosperous condition, and one of the soundest of those numerous institutions. It will also be seen that the Company has adopted the non-forfeiture principle of issuing policies.

This covers a point which is all now pending before the Legislature of this State specially aims to secure, and is already required by law in Massachusetts. When that measure was introduced we urged its immediate passage, and the fact that our best life insurance companies have adopted that principle voluntarily, is proof that in demanding its passage we were not asking too much of the Legislature, for it is only carrying out a theory which the safest and best companies, like the National Life, consider no more than just and fair to the insured. We understand that several of the life insurance companies have sent men to Albany to oppose its passage. If they succeed in defeating the bill, the only way for those who desire to have their lives insured is to take out policies in a company like the National Life, which recognizes and voluntarily adopts the principle asked for in the bill.

It is cheaper and safer to be insured in a good company; and believing that it is so with the non-forfeiture policies, we believe that we are but doing a public service in calling attention to those companies which voluntarily insure on that plan. If you do not want your hard-earned money wrenched from you whenever you are overtaken by an emergency, never patronize those companies which do not recognize that principle.

From the Wall-street Journal, Feb. 27, 1869.

The National Life Insurance Company of New-York have issued their Fourth Annual Report, from which we learn that their receipts during the year 1868 were $323,585; disbursements, $138,421; assets, $438,248, the business showing an increase in the income of the Company of $116,000; the total expenses being, however, but a small percentage over the previous year. This Company has adopted the Massachusetts principle of non-forfeiture of policy through neglect to pay the premium, a principle which every life insurance company, whether domestic or foreign, should be forced by the Legislature to adopt.

From the Commercial Advertiser, Feb. 20, 1869.

In another column will be found the annual statement of the National Life Insurance Company, which deserves the attention of parties insuring. Although the business of this Company is not so extensive as that of some others, yet it appears to conduct its affairs on sound, economical principles, affording the great protection of those insuring. The progress of the Company since 1864, indicated in its statement, is deserving of attention. The National has adopted the Massachusetts principle of non-forfeiture of policy through neglect to pay the premium, which to many is a great recommendation.

From the Evangelist, March 4, 1869.

THE NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of New-York is enabled to make, in its Fourth Annual Report, a very encouraging statement of its business. From seventeen policies issued in 1864, the first year of its existence, it has increased the last year to over thirteen hundred, as may be seen by the detailed statement in another column. This shows a steady growth, and with assets now amounting to nearly half a million of dollars, it needs but prudent and wise management to make it one of our most successful and valuable Companies. Our acquaintance with the President and Vice-President (the latter long connected with the Manhattan) gives us great confidence in its future growth and prosperity.
